Tompkins Are Feted on 50th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Tompkins of Inman, whose fiftieth anniversary was March 17, 1939, observed their anniversary with a family dinner and open house reception Sunday, June 11. The family dinner was held in the home of their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey A. Tompkins, with the Woman's Society of Christian Service serving the dinner. During the dinner guests enjoyed an hour of reminiscing over various events which occurred during the past fifty years, concluding with an original poem to Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins composed by Mrs. Harvey A. Tompkins.

Following the dinner an open-house reception was held from three to five in the Maxey Memorial Addition of the Methodist church with the Woman's Society of Christian Service in charge of the arrangements. The serving table was beautiful with a four-tier wedding cake baked and decorated by Mrs. Tompkins' niece, Mrs. Orville Carlisle of Norfolk, and with gold candles and flowers. The two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Charles A. Tompkins and Mrs. Harvey A. Tompkins, poured coffee, and the two granddaughters, Nancy Lee and Linelle Claire Tompkins, served punch. Two of Mrs. Tompkins' nieces, Mrs. Orville Carlisle and Mrs. Everett Boyer, presided at the guest book. Mrs. L. R. Tompkins wore an orchid lace dress and an orchid corsage which was flown from Hawaii, a gift of her son and his wife, Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Tompkins. Mr. Tompkins wore a red rose boutonniere.

Mr. Tompkins was born April 9, 1887, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Tompkins, pioneer residents of Holt County, having come to this part of the state in about 1883. He grew to young manhood here and then went to Norfolk where he attended school and Business College, residing in the home of his sister, Mrs. Ethel Locks. He afterwards worked for the C. and N.W. Railroad, for an insurance company and for other business concerns in Norfolk. In December of 1905 he returned to Holt County and engaged in farming with his brother-in-law, Mr. George Keefer, on the farm which was known as the Thompson place and which he later owned.

Mrs. Tompkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Doughty, was born in Belle Plaine, Ia., and at the age of three moved to Norfolk with her parents where she grew to young womanhood. She taught in rural schools near Norfolk and worked for the Norfolk Daily News and in a jewelry store in Norfolk.

On March 17, 1909, the Tompkins were married at the home of the bride's parents in Norfolk. They made their home on the ranch south of Inman and resided there for thirty-two years when in 1941 they built a new home in Inman and have lived there since. They have taken an active part in church and community enterprises all through the years. Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins have two sons and eight grandchildren. Dr. Charles A. Tompkins with his family lives in Tucson, Ariz., where he is a practicing pediatrician, and Harvey A. Tompkins lives with his family on the Tompkins ranch south of Inman.

Relatives and friends from a distance who attended the reception included: Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Tompkins and daughter Nancy of Tucson, Ariz.; Mr. L. C. Tompkins of Kelsey, Wash.; Mrs. Lou Bitters, Kansas City, Mo.; Mrs. L. H. Doughty, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Boyer, Teddy and Susie, Mrs. Loren Wagner, and Miss Linelle Tompkins, all of Lincoln; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Romig, Jr., of Casper, Wyo.; Ylene Larsen, Fremont; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Carlisle, Jimmy and Margaret of Norfolk; Mrs. Coe Caldwell, Utica; Mrs. Lena Butler, Independence, Mo.; Mr. and Mrs. Walter French, St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hansen, Plainview; Mrs. Cliff Penn and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Penn, Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Darlington, Neligh; Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Kiltz, Chambers; and Mrs. John Conard, Emmet.

He—an ambitious young man from the wide prairie—
Came to Norfolk to school and the city to see.

It's a story of love that is real and true,
A story that's old, yet forever new,
Of a girl and a boy and the home they made,
How they hoped and planned and worked and played.

Well, it's the same old story of girl meets boy,
Boy likes girl, but girl is coy,
But boy decides she's the one he wants,
And he tells her so on their horse and buggy jaunts.

At last she said "Yes", and they began to plan
This young school ma'am and her fine young man,
And in the Doughty home the lines were read,
The promises made and the vows were said.

So on March 17 of 19-0-Nine
They two were made one and in the nick of time
They escaped to Wernville where they caught the train
And started their life with its sunshine and rain.

It wasn't easy, this life on the plain,
They both worked hard with might and main,
The country was young, the conveniences few,
And they and their neighbors found much to do.

There are lots of stories that they can tell,
The Vigilantes chased him, riding pell-mell,
He managed to escape by his horses' speed
And by tricking the gang, a daring deed.

There is one story that she can tell
About a pot of beans that began to swell
Till she filled her kettles and dishpan, too,
They had plenty of beans for a week or two.

Two sons came to bless their home:
Charles and Harvey, now men full grown,
Charles, who doctored the dogs when he was small,
Now doctors children, the best of all.

Charles and Carita, his home-town gal,
Have lived near and far at their country's call,
And with four fine youngsters are doing their share
To make a good home and to make life fair.

The younger son, Harvey, came back here to live
With his college sweetheart their strength to give
To the good things of life in the community here
Church, school, and their children dear.

Now we're here together on this beautiful day,
A day full of memories, some sad and some gay,
A day to honor this man and his wife
Who have lived together fifty years of life.

Through the years they have given with unselfish love
To their community, their church and God above
Of talent and time and neighborly deeds
To minister to others and their needs.

So—here's wishing you well, dear father and mother,
Good neighbors, good friends, sister and brother,
May God bless you and keep you, each one and 'other
And while we are absent, one from the other.

Strawberries, Appricots Make Appealing Salad

Bill Perry, supervisor of the local Meadow Gold plant sent us this recipe for strawberry apricot mold which, he says, is recommended for those warm days when a light but filling cottage cheese is most appealing.

Developed by Beatrice Cooke, director of the company's Chicago test kitchens, the salad calls for fresh strawberries as well as canned apricots and pineapple. When fresh strawberries are out of season Miss Cooke suggests that you use the frozen berries.

- Strawberry Apricot Mold
(One Quart Mold)
- 1 package strawberry flavored gelatin
 - 1 cup hot water
 - 1/2 cup orange juice
 - 1/2 cup pineapple juice
 - 1 cup cottage cheese
 - 1 cup sliced, canned apricots, drained
 - 1/2 cup drained, crushed pineapple
 - 1 cup sliced fresh strawberries
 - 1/2 cup chopped nuts
- Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add juices. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in cottage cheese, fruits, and nuts. Spoon into one quart mold or six individual molds and chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens. Makes six servings.
