Al Stoffer Returns Home

Al Stoffer returned to his home this week from Omaha where he has been hospitalized since he figured in the first hunting accident of the season in this area. Stoffer, a 38-year-old farmer, was hunting in the company of Bob Engler, Loren Sargent and Bob Scott. He received injuries to his left thumb and fore finger, then the shot traveled to his head. He suffered the loss of his right eye and it has taken months to repair the damage done to his face.

Veteran's service officer, Alvin Heese, says Stoffer is scheduled for entry in a Veteran's hospital in Minnesota for treatment for his eye before more plastic surgery is done.

Stoffer is married and is the father of six children.

A Stoffer fund helped to defray some of the expenses which faced the family.

Clearwater School May Be Closed

George Flasschoen, superintendent of schools at Clearwater led a discussion on problems facing the Clearwater community Monday evening, Feb. 8 before an assembly of one hundred interested citizens.

A question and answer panel was headed by Mrs. Frieda Josten, superintendent of the Antelope county schools and included Harvey Miller, president of the board of education of district No. 6, the Clearwater district, and Lawrence Schnabel, chairman of the Antelope county Reorganization Committee.

Lack of funds with which to meet the requirements of the State Department of Education and the Legislature and the few sources of raising money were given as the reason for the meeting.

The need for a complete renovation of the mathmatic's course, a standard chemistry and physics program and for a secondary-certificable teacher, librarian were reviewed.

The Clearwater school is a Class "D" school. Nothing passed beyond the discussion stage at the Monday meeting. The rural district board members were asked to call meetings in their districts and to bring their questions and suggestions to a future meeting to be called at Clearwater.

Dierks Gets Bond Awards

United States Treasury Department Awards were given this week to Lyle P. Dierks, county savings bond chairman and to the banks of the county which sell the Treasury's E and H savings bonds. The award to Dierks was made by W. B. Millard, jr., state chairman who noted that Holt county bond purchases during 1959 were 119.4% of the year's total.

He paid tribute to the volunteer efforts put forth in support of the bond program and to the individuals whose purchases made the good sales record. Banks sell about 90% of all bonds sold in the state according to R. L. Stout, banking chairman of the state committee. Stout, who sent citations to First National Bank Atkinson; First National Bank, O'Neill; Chambers State Bank, Chambers; O'Neill National Bank, O'Neill; Farmers State Bank, Ewing; Tri-County Bank, Stuart, congratulated the bankers for their service to the Treasury Department. He said banks handle this work without charge to the government and as a free service to their customers.

Vegetable-Ham Chowder Is "Quicky" Soup Suggests Joe Sivesind

Not all hearty soups need start with a soup bone, then continue with hours of long, slow cooking. Here's a "quicky" vegetable and ham chowder sent to us by Joe Sivesind, local salesman of the Meadow Gold Dairy, which he says, you can prepare in an hour. It was developed by Beatrice Cooks, director of the Chicago Test Kitchens, for homemakers who like to serve hot soup often on cold winter days.

Ham 'N Corn Chowder (Six servings)

- 4 medium potatoes, cooked or 3 1/2 cups mashed
- 1 No. 303 can colden cream-style corn
- 1 cup finely diced cooked ham
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 sup grated natural cheddar cheese
- 1 quart homogenized milk
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- Dash white pepper

Combine all ingredients in large saucepot. Heat over moderate heat until piping hot. Garnish each serving with chopped parsley or paprika.
