

Water flows up to and around the Inman school. School was cancelled Monday and Tuesday and the flooding prevented many students from getting to school on other days of this week.

Horse back riding and boating go hand in hand in Inman Sunday as water south and west of town flooded the streets. The only thing lacking here is someone on water skis behind one of those horses.

The best means of transportation Sunday at Inman was on foot wearing hip waders. These Inman men stand in front of the postoffice and water surges all around them.
