A Poem From Mrs. Eby ...

—My Country—
Blue are her skies and bright fair are her fields today,
Hearts here with joy are light,
Happy our children play,
Fathers and mothers smile after their tasks are done,
Here gleams, for mile and mile, grain in the golden sun;
Here gentle stars above look down on peaceful scenes,
Here is a land to love, this is what freedom means,
Streams are pure and clean, orchards now come to fruit,
Land where no work is seen born of the brawn of brute,
Firesides with love aglow, homes that with laughter ring,
These are joys we know these are the charms we sing,
Land of men's honest toil, land where no shell careers,
Staining with blood the soil, this is what freedom means,
Land of man's love for man, home of the brave and true,
Land where the humblest can his way his goal pursue,
Land where to God we pray not for the strength to fight,
But to be shown the way ever to keep the right,
This we are boasting of, these are the joys we know,
This is the land we love, our task is to keep it so.
