Politicians to Launch Campaigns; Nebraska Farmers Get Spotlight

LINCOLN—There will be much news copy in coming weeks over the plight of the Nebraska farmer. It will be voiced in the presidential campaign and in the race for the U. S. Senate in Nebraska. The U. S. Commerce Department had some figures on this. The department says there was an "unusually large drop in farm income" in the state last year.

The department said the net income per farm in Nebraska was $3,542 last year as compared with $3,164 in 1958. Farmers got more money for livestock and livestock products but less for crops.

Overall, the average Nebraskan had just about the same income in 1959 as for the previous 12 months. The actual figures show about a one percent increase while the national hike was six percent. Nebraska ranked 31st among the 50 states with a per-capita income of $1,981.

Constitutional Amendments

There will be two proposed Constitutional amendments on the November ballot carrying the same number. Amendments are listed by number on the ballot. There will be nine up for voter consideration, seven submitted by the 1959 Legislature, one by petition and one by the recent special session of the Legislature.

Roland Luedtke, legal counsel for the Secretary of State's office, explains the double numbering this way: State law says proposed amendments shall be numbered on the ballot in the sequence in which the secretary of state receives them.

The law applies to each separate session of the Legislature. So, carrying the number one will be each of the following two amendments: Authorizing the Legislature to provide for the continuity of government in the event of enemy attack. Permitting cities and counties to issue revenue bonds to buy or build sites to attract industry.

Appearing on a separate ballot will be a petition proposal to make the state education commissioner an elected rather than an appointed official.

irrigated by surface water climbed from 639,090 acres in 1953 to 715,000 in 1959.

Water specialist estimate Nebraska's underground water reserves total about 10 years of total rainfall. To store the supply above ground would require a tank as large as the entire state and 20 feet deep.

There currently is little regulation over drilling of wells by the state except that they must be registered and properly spaced.

Driving Licenses

The State Motor Vehicles Division is considering pushing in the Legislature a proposal to require a picture of the holder of a driving license be affixed to the permit.

Alvin Scissors, department director, said such a photograph would leave no doubt in the mind of any law enforcement officer that the person was authorized to have the license.

Scissors also has proposed that the licenses be issued from the Capitol, instead of by county treasurers. This is sure to kick off a storm if pursued, observers noted, especially by those who favor local retention of as many government services as possible.

Scissors said there is high interest in the photograph proposal by liquor dealers, bankers, merchants and insurance companies who feel such a license would serve as an "excellent means of identification."

Interstate Highway

The Interstate Highway bridges across the Platte River in Cass and Sarpy counties are expected to be completed by January 1. Flooding in early June caused some delay in construction of the bridges and only bad weather could make the project miss the December 31 deadline, the highway department says.

Completion of the bridges will permit motorists to travel from Lincoln to Omaha on the super highway, the department said.
