Are You Pleased With Your Child's Reading Ability?

Have you teachers, parents and school board members heard of the magical Mae Carden system of teaching Reading?

You may have read the article in Sept. 9, '61 issue of the Saturday Evening Post, or heard and seen the recent Chet Huntly interview with Miss Carden.

All interested people will have the opportunity of hearing this genius in person, Saturday Jan. 6, 2:00 P.M. at the Legion hall, O'Neill, Nebr.

She welcomes teachers, mothers and anyone who has been concerned about the inability of many students (even on College level) to read comprehensively.

Miss Carden is her own publisher. She does not try to sell her method unless it has been asked for. At present it is so widely requested that she cannot keep up with the demand, without help.

Her system has been successfully adopted in New Jersey, where she started her crusade, New York and other eastern states, also Canada, and very recently in 13 of the largest city schools in California.

Top administrators say that where the system has been introduced, it has never been dropped.

Miss Carden says the slow child may know delay, but he need never know defeat or frustration. Even children with IQ's of 75 are able to read capably. She guarantees readers.

Miss Carden, is now on tour in Nebr. It has taken a year of effort to arrange for her visit here, and this will be your only opportunity to hear her.

She will be in Bassett for an evening lecture on the same day. If there are at least twenty interested teachers or others here two day course will be given in this vicinity. You are urged to be present.—Adv.

John L. Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lohaus, has been notified that he has been given an honors appointment on the legal staff of the Department of Justice by Joseph Guilfoyle, operations officer of the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.
