Invite you to their Annual Lazy F Auction At the Atkinson Livestock Market, Atkinson, Nebr. 3000 HEAD including 2,650 head of Nebraska's most famous brand of feeder calves

ON TUESDAY, FEB. 20 — 12:30 P.M.

1,800 Strictly Choice to Fancy Calves from the Home Ranch
1,250 Steers and 550 Heifers
Charley all but padlocked the granary door this year, so the offering is carrying less flesh than any they have sold for years. All will be sorted uniformly and sold in numbers to suit the buyers. Average weights range from 300 to 325 lbs. They will consist of 80 per cent straight Angus, 15 per cent Hereford-Angus cross, and 5 per cent Herefords. Except for the heifer calves which will be 60 per cent Black-Whiteface, 30 per cent Angus, 10 per cent Herefords. Choose the Peterson Lazy F's if you want top performance in your feedlot. Feed the brand that repeat buyers wait for year after year.
150 head from the Willis C. Peterson ranch. Choice to fancy Angus and Black-Whiteface calves. Bred alike and conditioned the same. About 50% steers and 50% heifers. Weights 300 to 475 lbs.
250 from the Fred and Helen (Peterson) Home ranch. Choice to fancy Hereford steer and heifer calves, weights 350 to 500 lbs. These are carrying the HP Brand and are always among the top selling consignments.
250 from the Vera (Peterson) Paddock ranch. Choice to fancy lightweight Hereford steer and heifer calves. Lighter than ever—275 to 450 lbs. The golden yellow haired kinds typical of the Sand-hills best.
50 Choice Angus bred heifers from the Elmer Juracek herd. All are officially Bangs vaccinated and mated to Revell-bred Registered Angus bulls. These will start calving Mar. 20. True foundation herd material here.
Come early — see the cattle in the pens just as they sell.

Report from Washington

By Congressman Dave Martin
Fourth District, Nebraska

President Kennedy, this week, in a special message to Congress, urged approval of the purchase of $100 million in U. N. bonds. If the member nations would pay up their assessments, the U. N. would not have to float a bond issue. The United Nations is broke. I wouldn't invest any of my own funds in a concern which is bankrupt, so I don't see why Congress should vote $100 million of our tax money for these U. N. bonds which are worthless. I will vote No.

Evidently, Premier Khrushchev's economic management failed to deliver the goods last year for the output of meat, textiles, timber, tractors and coal in Russia declined below 1960's. The number of cattle and hogs slaughtered dropped, and the sugar output was so low that the U.S.S.R. — only a few years ago an exporter — needed supplies from Cuba. The Communist system doesn't seem to work, in spite of the boasting from Moscow.

You will recall that in my Reports to you last fall I proposed a complete economic blockade of Cuba. Well, we finally got some partial action this week when the State Department announced that all exports, and imports, except foodstuffs and medicine, are being stopped. Last October, for instance, we purchased from Cuba $32,000 worth of frog legs; $2,600,000 worth of tobacco products; undetermined quantities of rum and other alcoholic liquors, and pleasure boats. All of these purchases helped to finance and strengthen Castro's Communist Cuba. I am glad that the State Department has finally taken some action.

The Congress, last year, increased the national debt limit from $285 billion to $298 billion. Our national debt has now reached the latter figure, and the President has requested immediate raising of our debt limit by $2 billion to a new ceiling of $300 billion and later in the summer increasing this amount to $308 billion. One way to halt this spending is to refuse to go along with the raising of the legal debt limit of the country.

I intend to do this as a protest against the continuous Federal spending and acceleration of our domestic programs, all at the taxpayers' expense.
Each year, during the week of Lincoln's birthday, the Republicans hold their annual Lincoln Day dinners. Later, the Democrats hold their Jackson Day dinners. During these periods, each Party "by gentlemen's agreement" excuses the other, and no legislative program is scheduled in the Congress, which permits Members on both sides of the aisle to return to their Districts or otherwise fulfill Party obligations. In anticipation of this, the Republican National Committee asked if I would agree to go out and make some speeches at Lincoln Day dinners, and I, of course consented. They have assigned me three speeches in Florida — at Melbourne, Leesburg, and Gainesville — during the week of Lincoln's birthday.
