ELECTRICITY POWERS PROGRESS

Another GIANT STRIDE into the future...

As the nation observes National Electrical Week, Feb. 11-17, another giant stride into the future is being taken at Consumers Public Power District's Sheldon Station at Hallam, Nebraska. Self-sustaining nuclear fission has been achieved, and the first phase of testing the reactor core in the world's first sodium-graphite nuclear power plant is progressing on schedule.

FEB. 11-17, 1962

Theme of National Electrical Week is "Electricity Powers Progress"—and the Hallam Nuclear Power Facility will provide a new source of electricity to Nebraska. In addition, the knowledge gained through its operation will help pave the way to a more abundant, lower cost supply of electricity for Nebraska, the nation and the world.
