to reseal loans.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture today announced a broad reseal program under which producers can continue price-support loans on farm-stored corn, wheat, grain sorghum, oats, barley and soybeans after loan maturity dates this spring and summer and earn storage payments. The two-year reseal program initiated last year will be continued for 1961-crop corn and wheat. Under this provision, producers can reseal their farmstored corn and wheat for a twoyear period without a yearly renewal of the loan.

In addition, 1961-crop barley, oats, grain sorghum, and soybeans under farm-stored pricesupport loan may be resealed and loans extended for a year following maturity dates. Soybeans are being included in the reseal program for the first time since the 1959 program on 1958-crop Resealed loans on 1960-crop barley and oats, 1959-crop barley (on a limited basis), corn and wheat, and 1958-crop corn are being extended for another year. Resealed loans on 1960-crop wheat, corn and grain sorghum will run for another year under the two-year program.

Approximately 190,000 loans covering about 395 million bushels of grains from 1960 and previous crops are eligible for reseal for the coming year. In addition, the six grains from the 1961 crop in farm storage under price-support loans will be eligible for reseal. The 1962 reseal program will be made available in designated areas for each of the grains on the basis of determinations by State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) Committees that the program should apply in their states. In making their decision, State ASC Committees will consider feasibility of safe storage of grains on farms for the reseal period and whether it will be advantageous to producers and the Commodity Credit

Corporation to make reseal loans

In areas where State ASC Com- Orchard News mittees announce a program, farmers who desire to participate should make application to their county ASC offices before loan maturity dates. In general, maturity dates for the six grains are: wheat and grain sorghum, March 31; barley and oats, April 30; soybeans, May 31; and corn as in the past, July 31. As in the
