It's the unity in a community that gets the job done

the job in Tilden TORNADO CLEANUP

Only hours after it was battered by a tornado the evening of May 21, the town of Tilden was on its way back to normal. The entire community, assisted by good neighbors from surrounding farms and towns, "turned to" to restore essential services, clean up the debris and patch the damage. Consumers men and equipment from O'Neill, Columbus, Albion, Neligh, and Norfolk were on their way to the area within minutes after the storm struck. Thirty-two men on the scene plus dispatching crews in Norfolk and Lincoln worked throughout the night and all day Tuesday to restore service, and assist in the clean-up.

This is another example of the way Consumers works with the people of the communities it serves to meet ALL the needs of those communities.
