

Prairieland Talk

"Prairieland Talker Is 92"

By ROMAINE SAUNDERS, 411 1/2 South 51st St., Lincoln 6, Nebr.

December 4, Ninety-two years ago that date a baby boy was born in a home in a southern Wisconsin city. That baby had ten fingers, ten toes, two ears and one nose. At about the age of twelve years he was brought with his parents and brothers and sisters to the prairies of Holt County near O'Neill, where he grew to manhood and you may know him now as Prairieland Talker. Most of his life, the best years of his life were spent in the O'Neill community. He had lived in other locations in the state and in California for a time, but most of his life was spent in Nebraska. He's seen the pioneer experiences, the ups and downs of the early settlers. And he can call to mind many events of pioneer life. Now an old man full of years! O'Neill was a town of about four hundred people when he was first one of them and it has now grown to be quite a city.

Romaine Saunders

I recently had a visit from a native son of O'Neill who was born there some sixty odd years ago and makes his living there. And is one of the important ones in the community. A lawyer and a banker, J. D. Cronin, son of my lifelong friend and associate in newspaper work, Dennis Cronin. It is always a pleasure to meet with the friends from O'Neill especially those who have made it their lifelong home. J. D. though he never married is a good kid in his sixties and a leading lawyer of north and central Nebraska. Mr. Cronin was accompanied by Captain, editor, printer Cal Stewart. A north Nebraska patriot now in business in our capital city, whom we are always happy to see.

Across the street it goes in what is said to be a lovely new building which will be the O'Neill National Bank and also the law office of J. D. Cronin. I recall the days that the old bank building was built. The first editor and publisher of the Frontier was one time president of that bank, but gave up the banking business and got back into the newspaper work. And now there stands just one below the other two former bank buildings, one a barber shop what will the other now be?

My good friends the Leidys have moved from Arkansas to Missouri. On their way north again! Maybe yet they will come back to their beautiful and native land around Inman and be one of us again. Come on my friends.

My good neighbors down there in Swan precinct, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Berry are no longer there as I am not. But are now residents of O'Neill. They still have their farm which is run by his son. It was so nice to hear from him again. Howard and I sat on the election board out there together time after time and now others take over.

He was born in O'Neill early in the 1930's. Today he is a school teacher in a community in Michigan carrying on life's work. Who is it? My grandson, Glenn Romaine Saunders.

It was a shock to me to learn of the death of Elizabeth O'Malley. She had spent most of her long life in the O'Neill community and had I not been sick in bed when I heard of her death, I would have gone to O'Neill to attend her funeral. Like other pioneers she is laid away awaiting the call to come to newness of life. She was a capable woman who served one time in the Post Office and had served many years as recorder of births and deaths for Holt County. Now she is at rest.

From the beginning of things in O'Neill there were some of the clergymen there to look after the spiritual needs of the people. Father Cassidy, of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Rev. Bartley Blain of the Methodist Church, and Rev. N. S. Lowrie of the Presbyterian Church. The churches still stand. No not as they were in the days of those pioneer preachers. The Catholic church is new, the Presbyterian church is entirely new, and the Methodist church has been built on to. But those pioneer ministers are no more in person but their influence is still felt in the community.

She was a grand old lady nearing her ninetieth year of life. Born in the year 1804 in Pennsylvania, lived her life in that state, Illinois, Wisconsin and Nebraska. Her remains are at rest in the abode of the dead on the hill, but her memory lives on with me, her grandson.

Frontiers Ago

50 YEARS AGO Ten head of Angus yearling steers sold in the open market at Chicago last week at $12 per hundred pounds, the highest price ever paid for cattle on the open market. Will they be that high during the last year of Wilson's administration. The rural mail route, running southeast of O'Neill and petitioned for by Samuel Wolfe and others, has been allowed by the post office department. Mr. and Mrs. Martin Maloney of Sioux City returned to their home Sunday after a weeks visit with the former's sister, Mrs. John Hickey. Mayor Biglin, Councilmen Hillard and Cronin were in Norfolk last Saturday getting some figures upon the cost of pumping the water for the city. County Clerk McNichols was back on his job at the court house again last Monday and had a box of cigars on tap for the "boys" who frequented the office. Mr. and Mrs. S. F. McNichols returned last Friday evening from their bridal trip in the eastern part of the state and Iowa.

25 YEARS AGO After 50 years of business life in this city, J. B. Mellor retired from business last week. F. B. Connel, secretary of the Nebraska Fish and Game commission and Dr. Sullivan of Greeley, a member of the commission were in the city last Friday visiting friends and looking after matters in connection with their official positions. Ambrose Biglin came Monday from Casper, Wyo., to spend the holidays visiting his mother and other relatives here. The Mellor Motor company are having the interior of the office and showroom of their garage redecorated in preparation of the showing of the new line of Ford cars. Mr. and Mrs. Claude Johnson are rejoicing over the arrival of home Wednesday of a baby girl. Thomas Grady and sister, the Misses Mayme, Rose and Catharine of Denver who were here attending the funeral of their brother, Ben J. Grady left for their home last Tuesday morning.

10 YEARS AGO Word has been received here stating that George Graham, 76, of Santa Cruz, Calif., died Sunday, December 7. He was the last survivor of a large Holt county family of boys and one girl. His parents lived 10 miles north of O'Neill on the place Joseph Gokie now farms. In a candlelight wedding ceremony at Bonesteel, S. D., in the Lutheran church, Marie Gruhn, O'Neill became the bride of Sgt. W. K. Baker. Billie Marcellus of the Marcellus Implement company in West O'Neill is in Springfield, Ill. this week as a guest of the Allys-Chalmers Manufacturing Co., Judge and Mrs. Louis Reimer announce the marriage of their daughter, Margaret, to Haynie Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Moore of Kansas City, Mo. Laurence Haynes, Louis Bartos and Richard Bridge returned Wednesday night from a deer hunting trip to Chadron.

5 YEARS AGO Michael Liddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Liddy, recently competed in a national merit examination administered to 300,000 top senior students in the nation's high schools. Fifty boys are working out under Max Pofahl of O'Neill's American Legion sponsored golden gloves team. None of the aspirants have had experience. State Senator Frank Nelson, 72, O'Neill farmer, Thursday filed with the secretary of state as a candidate for reelection to Nebraska's unicameral legislature. Al Carroll and Bud Cole, in a boat, Tuesday on the Missouri river encountered large waves. One whopper filled the boat with water and the pair had to jump clear.

The Long Ago At Chambers

50 YEARS AGO The stores are all now brilliantly arrayed in their holiday attire with fine gifts of every description on display and only 11 more shopping days before Christmas. Better get busy. Dr. Hemingway is in Chambers this week doing dental work. John Walmer and daughter of Little were Chambers visitors Monday. Mr. Conard was over from Inman Tuesday in his Ford car. Mr. Newhouse and family moved onto the Calkins place the first of the week, having been living on the Otto place until Mr. Calkins could get out. The Band Boys have just got in several pairs of skates and are now prepared to take care of all who wish to skate. John Doherty made a trip to O'Neill Sunday to her school and remaining over until Monday to transact business in the county seat. Dr. Gill reports the arrival of a baby boy at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Alderson Wednesday morning.

25 YEARS AGO L. Collins and Tom Newhouse, both of Chambers and Steve Tuttle of McCook passed tests for private pilots license at the Grand Island airport. The Community Christmas tree was set up in the street Tuesday and effectively lighted, giving a very pretty and Christmas like atmosphere to the town. We can officially announce that Miss Zetha Hubbard and Dr. C. M. Eason are bride and groom (not Gloom) and will give the details of the wedding in next week's issue. Open house will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Porter on Tuesday afternoon, December 21 in honor of their Golden Wedding anniversary, which occurs on Christmas Day. Mrs. Chet Fees had the misfortune to be quite severely scalded on one of her lower limbs about ten days ago by a kettle of boiling water.

Pages Past

50 YEARS AGO William Fuchelberth, Osmond, was called here Tuesday evening on account of injuries to his son-in-law, Anton Nissen. John Kohl and Hal Farnsworth rode the Odd Fellows goat Monday evening and apparently enjoyed the experience. R. K. Stevens and family, Miss Johnson, C. M. Stevens and wife and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Waring at Thanksgiving dinner with Roy Warnings. Miss Nellie Reed and Mrs. Page visited the school last week. Misses Evelyn and Mary Murphy departed Saturday for Wayne where they are attending college. J. D. McNabb arrived from Creighton the latter part of the week and will reside here permanently. Earl Vandover hauled a load of hogs from Mineola Wednesday and took the train to Plainview that evening.

40 YEARS AGO Mrs. A. T. Carmen raised thirty turkeys from two hens and sold 27 for 33c a lb. Page should have an oil station. Mrs. Dave Bowen returned the first of the week from Omaha. Mr. and Mrs. Cook visited relatives in Iowa this week. Miss Helen Townsend came up from Waterbury and spent Thanksgiving with her folks. A. D. Palmer left for Sioux City Sunday to help invoice Edwards and Bradfords Lumber Yards. Roy Stewart has moved to Page and will now be found in the butcher shop. Frank Snyder's family ate dinner with Mrs. S's brother at Coleridge. Postmaster Chase Christmas rushed. Leslie and Earl Summers spent Thanksgiving at Creighton. Pete X Larson sold a 30-30 rifle for $20. The multitude of Page witnessed a basketball game between Brunswick and Page. First half of the boys game was 8-14 in favor of Page, the last half 23-19 in favor of Brunswick. The girls game was a mixed up affair between the two coaches. There were just too many fouls to make it fair or interesting. In the first half our girls were 11-5 and in the second half Page defeated Brunswick 29-8.

We Know Who Is To Blame!

December is a lovely month of cheer, celebration and giving of presents. Old and young alike regret that it is for only one month and that it must be followed by the inevitable January first reckoning of the budget. By and large in these days the average man is confused by figures—millions here, billions there and then his own income, that should be adequate, but never is. It's worrisome and leaves a man feeling guilt ridden as if caught between inefficiency and poor management—an awful bind!

We look for a comforting alibi and if we're not badly mistaken we've found one—at least we've found a chance to shift part of the blame onto the woman of the home. It's this way—the U. S. Department of Agriculture has come up with a college report on the consumer habits of the average female.

She eats 30 pounds of candy, 360 pounds of meat, 333 eggs, 91 pounds of sugar, 244 quarts of milk, 25 thousand inches of spaghetti and she smokes 146 packages of cigarettes a year, besides dumping 400 pounds of edible food in the garbage.

As we sit here sweating over the bills, the thought of that woman up at the house eating all that meat and candy, swigging 244 quarts of milk, slurping those miles of spaghetti, smoking one cigarette after another and then scraping 400 pounds of leftovers into the garbage—why a man would be justified in going home and baiting her to complain about the lack of money and then give her a good beating for buying all that food.

The only drawback to such a plan is that the woman who would eat all that food is probably as strong as an ox and the tussle might prove embarrassing to our hero.

Heaven help us!

Neatest Trick Since Houdini Top officials of the government are now planning to perform the neatest trick since Houdini developed his amazing illusions—to tax less and at the same time spend more.

This scheme, let it be noted, comes at a time when we are running a fiscal year deficit of close to $8 billion, and when the federal government's increases in tax revenues are substantially below its increases in expenditures.

The pending jumps in spending will, if Congress should be so foolish as to authorize them, be largely and perhaps wholly in welfare state projects. Then, in all probability, the weary old cycle would start again. There would be a wave of inflation, a further cheapening of the dollar which is now worth less than half of what it was before World War II, new wage demands supported by strikes in the major industries, and increased living costs of every kind. The Soviets, who hope this country will collapse from internal economic disturbance, could hardly ask for more.

DEMING, N. M., GRAPHIC: "According to Business Week Magazine, dated December 16, 1961, there are now 33 states with statutes on their books designed to attract industry. Add to that the lures offered industry by foreign countries such as Ireland, Japan, Hong Kong and others, lures that in many instances are supported by American tax dollars and our foreign aid program, and it must be concluded that it is a rough, rocky and upward road ahead for the community interested in attracting industry."
