

Report from Washington

By Congressman Dave Martin
Fourth District, Nebraska

This week our Education and Labor Committee has been considering a new Libraries Bill. The present present Libraries Services Act does not expire until 1966 so there is no need to enact new legislation at this time. The proposed bill is a good example of how our Federal government can mushroom from a comparatively modest program into a much larger one. The present Libraries Services Act has been in existence for six years at a cost of $7.5 million per year. It has provided library facilities to our rural areas—limited to those towns with less than 10,000 population. It is on a matching basis and has been highly successful. I think that the present program should continue.

The new program is known as the Library Services and Construction Act. The present cost of $7.5 million per year would be increased to $25 million per year. The 10,000 limitation on population would be eliminated, thus allowing assistance to libraries, regardless of the size of the community, throughout the country. Surveys by the Department show that the rural areas have the greatest need for these facilities. Therefore, as a result of this proposed change, these activities in Nebraska could be curtailed because less money would be available for the rural areas. The second section of the bill is entirely new. It would provide $20 million for assistance in construction, remodeling, and for the purchase of land or equipment on a matching basis. This is a Federal-aid-to-libraries bill similar to proposed Federal-aid-to-education. Total cost: $45 million for the first year, against $7.5 million annually for the present program. With a projected $12 billion deficit for 1964 predicted by the President, I cannot accept this new proposal.

The president, last week, sent to the Congress a request to further pay increases for Civil Service and postal employees. This group received a pay raise only last year. The raises would run from 2% to 25% according to the classification of the job. The higher grades, or those already in the higher pay brackets, would receive the largest percentage boost. The expected cost of this proposed pay raise would be $400 million for the first year. This is on top of the $1 billion pay raise in two steps granted last year. The President would raise the salary for top government executives to a ceiling of $25,500 per year. This is a forerunner to another message within the next week or two to increase the salaries of the Members of the Congress. To this, I am unalterably opposed. I feel that our present salaries are adequate and that a raise is not justified. As your Representative in Washington, I feel that I would be violating my sacred trust to vote for a pay increase. As a consequence, I intend to vigorously oppose any proposed increase in salaries for ourselves.
