At 2 p.m., on Sunday, July 15, at the Methodist church in O'Neill, Miss Margaret ("Peggy") Alm and Donald R. Maw were married by the church pastor, Rev. Glenn Kennicott.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Alm. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Maw of Corona, Calif.

Two large vases of gladioli decorated the front of the church. Given in marriage by her father, the bride appeared in a floor-length white satin and net gown. The fitted bodice was trimmed at the portrait neckline with lace medallions trimmed with pearls, a net yoke rising to a high neckline. The long net sleeves tapered to points at the wrists. She wore pearl earrings, a gift from the bridegroom, and a necklace of pearls.

Her tiered fingertip veil was held in place by a pearl tiara. She carried a bouquet of white carnations and lilies-of-the-valley backed with lace.

Miss Carolyn Hiatt, who was maid-of-honor, wore a street-length summer nylon and cotton of pale pink trimmed with white. She wore a small matching hat. Her colonial bouquet was of white carnations accented with pink net.

The bridegroom appeared in a high grey business suit with a white carnation boutonniere. Warren Peden, who served as best man, appeared in a light blue-grey business suit.

The junior ushers were Bruce Klein of Harlan, Ia., a nephew of the bride, and William Oeltjen of Creston a nephew of the bridegroom.

Candlelighters, who wore pastel shaded short dresses, were nieces of the bride, Jo Anne Alm of Dorsey and Gretchen Klein of Harlan.

Mrs. R. R. Herley played the organ. Richard Smithson, soloist, sang "Through the Years," "Where'er You Walk" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Miss Clara Alm, an aunt of the bride, had charge of the guest book.

The gift table was in charge of Mrs. Ray Bettenhausen of Hartington and the Misses Faye Oeltjen of Creston and Patty Pierson.

A reception for the family and friends was held at the home of the bride's parents.

For her going-away ensemble, the bride chose a white cotton embroidered with pink with a matching pink duster and white accessories.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will live in an apartment in the home of the bride's parents.

Mrs. Maw, who was graduated from O'Neill high school in 1953, was employed at the business office of the Northwestern Bell Telephone company.
