FARM AUCTION

160 Acres—Holt County, Nebr.
 7 miles northwest of Page, 10 miles southeast of O'Neill
FRIDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1956
 At 2:00 p.m. — Sale to be held on premises

THE LAND	THE BUILDINGS
THIS FARM is located on a fine all-weather road, mail route and only a mile to fine country school. The farm land consists of ninety-five acres of gentle rolling, sandy loam soil, under cultivation, and the balance in native gramma grass pasture. This is a well-balanced farm and being on good roads, close to a county seat town where there are fine schools, both Protestant and Catholic, hospital, parks and an aggressive business district. Try to inspect this property before sale day as it has great potentials for irrigation. Many of the neighboring farms already have irrigation.	Are in medium state of repair and consist of the following: A three-bedroom home wired with REA, a good cave close to the house, a barn, twenty by thirty-two with a lean-to fourteen by thirty-two in which there is a 600-bushel granary, a twenty-eight by twenty-eight corn crib with a ten-foot drive down the center, a 28 x 28-ft. cattle shed on cement foundation, and a chicken house. There is an exceptionally good well with an Eclipse oil bath mill, with a fine garden spot close by that can be watered from the mill. Along the south side of the farm is a well-established, wide wind break, consisting of fine evergreen, pine, mulberry, Russian olive and cottonwood trees.

TERMS: 20% down day of sale, additional 30% on possession date. Balance may be carried back for 5 years at 5% interest.
POSSESSION: Immediate possession of buildings and possession of land on or before March 1, 1957.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Frahm, Owners
 They will be glad to show this property any time before sale date.

The Frontier Woman Yule Helps to Forget Troubles

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE, Homemaking Editor

These are busy days and will be until after the holidays. So you'll be wanting to use as many time saving recipes as possible, I particularly like oven meals this time of year.

If you use the macaroni products be sure to vary the shapes. You can buy them in more than one shape you know. Try using Mostaccioli in a macaroni and cheese entree. Mostaccioli is hollow and resembles a straight section of a drinking straw, cut diagonally. Bow tie and shells can double for elbow spaghetti or macaroni. Spiral shaped rotini may stand in for noodles. Remember, any macaroni made from durum semolina or durum wheat keeps its shape better in boiling and baking. They taste better too.

MACARONI - HAM CASSEROLE

Here's a macaroni-ham casserole you'll like: Add two tablespoons of 1/2 cup elbow macaroni to three cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly, for two minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, melt 1 tablespoon butter or margarine in a sauce pan. Add 1/4 cup chopped green pepper and 1/4 cup onion and simmer about five minutes. Add one cup diced cooked ham and brown lightly. Rinse macaroni with warm water and drain well. Combine ham mixture, 1/4 cups condensed cream of mushroom soup (10 1/2 ounce can), 1/2 cup milk, one tablespoon chopped pimiento, one tablespoon chopped parsley and 1/8 teaspoon pepper with macaroni. Pour into greased 1 1/2 quart casserole. Sprinkle with 1/2 cup grated American cheese (2 ounces). Bake in moderate oven of 375 F. 45 minutes. Makes four servings.

You can use left over chicken in this spaghetti scallop or clip the recipe and use left over turkey in it, after Christmas or new year's. Add two teaspoons salt and four ounces spaghetti to three cups boiling water. Boil rapidly, stirring constantly for two minutes. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 10 minutes. Meanwhile, combine 1/4 cups condensed cream of mushroom soup (10 1/2 ounce can), 1/4 cups milk; 1/2 cups cooked whole kernel corn; 1 cup diced chicken or turkey; 1 teaspoon salt, mixing thoroughly.

Rinse spaghetti with warm water and drain well. Add to turkey mixture. Mix well. Pour into greased 1 1/2 quart casserole. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup buttered bread crumbs. Bake in moderate oven of 350 F. about 35 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Christmas Lover Wins Three Month Subscription—

Dear Blanche:
 Here it is nearly Christmas again and, while I am writing to all our friends and sending them greetings, I thought of you, as I always enjoy all of your columns. So you seem like a friend also.

Isn't this a wonderful time of year? The stores are always so pretty and Christmas carols seem to be playing wherever you go. Everybody seems so happy. Could it be they are so busy wrapping gifts, sending Christmas cards, putting up the tree and fixing holiday goodies, they don't have time to think of their troubles or find fault with others? I know that is true of myself.

The kiddies are anxiously awaiting Santa Claus and every morning ask "How many days until Santa comes?" While we are answering their questions about Santa, let us not forget to tell them about the first Christmas many years ago in Bethlehem. In all the hustle and bustle of Christmas it seems many forget it is the birthday of Jesus Christ. A little crib with Jesus in under the tree is a beautiful decoration and so nice for the child to help them understand what Christmas really is.

Thinking about individual salads for your Christmas dinner? Here is one that is very pretty — also good.

CANDLESTICK SALAD
 Place one slice pineapple on lettuce leaf, stick 1/2 banana in pineapple, place one maraschino cherry on top banana to represent flame. Dab mayonnaise on the bottom as a candle dripping appearance.

This is simple but good fudge.
CHOCOLATE FUDGE
 Two cups sugar, 1/2 cup dark syrup, one square chocolate, 1/2 cup cream, four tablespoons butter.

Heat over slow fire and boil until it forms a hard ball in cold water. Remove from fire, add one teaspoon vanilla and nuts if desired. Beat until it begins to set and pour in buttered pan.

Merry Christmas, everyone!

tips on good lighting

Your eyesight is priceless!

In the long, dark winter days and nights ahead, you'll depend more and more upon artificial light for sewing, reading, and dozens of other seeing tasks! Electricity costs so little that good home lighting is a wise investment in Better Seeing For Better Living for the whole family! Help protect your family's eyes by following these four simple suggestions:

- (1) Have ample general lighting in the room to prevent dark shadows and harsh glare.
- (2) Provide the correct amount of direct light on your work—300 watts for sewing, at least 150 watts for reading.
- (3) Provide proper light diffusion. A lamp having both reflector and light colored shade will flood the work area with soft, glare-free light.
- (4) Place the lamp correctly—slightly behind and to your left (if you're right-handed), and close to your work.

Remember—good eyesight is priceless, and there's no bargain like low-cost electricity! Give your family Good Light for Good Sight for Better Living!

Good Lighting and Good Living go together!

Electricity does more . . . costs less!
