

Star Club Plans Yuletide Meeting

STAR—The Star Get-Together club met at the home of Mrs. Lysie Johnson on Tuesday, November 20, with Mrs. Roland Miller as hostess. Eight members and one visitor, Mrs. Claude Cole, were present.

After the business meeting, a demonstration of the lesson "Metal Modeling" was given by Mrs. William Derickson.

The club plans to send a box of "ests" to Earl Miller, a member of the armed services.

Next meeting will be December 12 at the home of Mrs. Bob Tomlinson with a Christmas party and a gift exchange to reveal secret friends. Roll call will be a hint on tree or home decorations. A covered dish luncheon will be held at noon. Each member is to bring a covered dish.

Other Star News

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Waring, Mrs. Hattie Boelter, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Boelter and Jim and Mr. and Mrs. Lysie Johnson and sons spent Wednesday evening, November 28, at the Ewalt Miller home. The ladies did quilting for Mrs. Miller.

Miss Brenda Beelart called at the Bill Hibbs and Ewalt Miller homes on Thursday evening.

The Ash Grove auxiliary meets this week at the hall. The Rhythm Ramblers will furnish music for the dance Sat. Dec. 8, at the hall. Mr. and Mrs. Dale Revell are now operating a lunch counter at the hall.

Newcomers in the community are the Don Prill family, living on the Melvin Held place.

Mrs. Ewalt Miller and son and Mrs. Lysie Johnson were in Norfolk Friday. Wyn and Larry Johnson spent the afternoon with Mrs. Gerald Waring.

DeKalb Awards to be Presented

About 70 people will attend a banquet at the American Legion auditorium tonight (Thursday) sponsored by the DeKalb Agriculture association and arranged by R. H. ("Bob") Strong of Chambers.

Guests will be entries in the DeKalb achievement project. People will be present from Pierce, Antelope, Cedar and Holt counties.

Public is invited to witness the presentation of awards and the educational program, starting at 8 o'clock.

George B. German of WNAX will be a guest.

District 33 School News—

Everyone at district 33 is busy preparing for the Christmas program.

During the past week the first, second and third graders have completed some of their books.

One of our second graders, Norman Taylor, had his tonsils removed, on November 30.

Hardin Says U of N Budget at 'Bedrock'

Governor, 'U' Chief Come to Grips

LINCOLN—Gov. Victor Anderson and Chancellor Clifford Hardin have come to grips over the University of Nebraska budget.

The school is seeking $5,563,125 more in state tax funds for the 1957-59 biennium to meet what Hardin has termed a "real crisis"—that of keeping present personnel and adding new ones.

In a four-hour session last week the governor, the chancellor and other university heads discussed the problems of taxes and needs of the school.

The skirmish was a friendly one, but most serious. It is the first round in a bid by the University for the funds. After all budget hearings are done, the governor will make recommendations to the Legislature.

Then the legislature's budget committee will hold hearings and come up with its suggestions to the Legislature. Taken into consideration and given considerable weight will be recommendations of the governor.

Hardin was asked by the governor to trim the budget but the chancellor declined. He said it already is at the "bedrock" level.

Basically, Hardin's position is that the money is needed for salaries to fight competition from schools throughout the country which are probing campuses for personnel at higher pay.

The chancellor fears the loss of 200 faculty members in the next two years if the funds are not forthcoming. In the last year and a half, 144 left the institution—mainly for more money—he said.

He said he already cut, personally, $2.5 million from requests of his college heads. But the governor said the asking must be "pounded down" further.

The governor's stand on the university is not confined to that spending agency. He has taken the same "hold the line" attitude with others.

"Oh, boy! Cowboy boots for Christmas!" That's the hope of these two typical American youngsters, Deb and Jay Dawson, as they see this display of boots that can bring them the glamour and excitement of the old West! Santa seems to be listening. Who knows? Maybe dreams will come true!

The governor says his problem is extremely difficult. Long a backer of a sound university, he now is faced with the problem of how much more the taxpayer can stand.

The chief executive said he has "no political aspirations" in taking his stand. He says it is simply a matter of his responsibility to taxpayers as weighed against the need for more funds.

Budget hearings by the governor undoubtedly will continue to take most of the attention in the statehouse in remaining weeks.

The governor has laid the problem of the University on the line—either the school trim its budget or he will do it for them.

The governor says no business problem has ever caused him more concern than budget matters this year.

These suggestions were made by the governor on the University:

1. Higher tuition fees. Hardin said they would not raise the amount of money needed.
2. "Doubling up" on classes.

Hardin said this is already being tried but there's a point beyond which an instructor cannot be burdened.

Hardin said the increase sought by the university would cost a farmer with a $50,000 investment $15.30 more state taxes per year, or a city resident with a $15,000 home, $4.50 more.

Polio Shots—

Some 146,000 persons have had three polio shots in Nebraska since the immunization program began in 1954 with field trials.

That's the report of Alan Rouse, state polio director. He said the total number of shots is about 950,000. This however, should climb by the end of the year when third shots are received by many other Nebraskans.

Only 1,300 persons 20-years-old or more received three shots, Rouse said.

Rouse said 408,000 persons have taken at least one shot. Of that number, 385,000 were under 20 or expectant mothers.

The director said acceptance of the vaccine was reflected in the reduction of polio cases reported this year. At last count the figure was 166 compared with 274 for a similar period in 1955.

Election Results—

The results of Nebraska's November 6 general election have been chalked up officially by the state canvassing board.

The results changed no contests as reported in unofficial tabulations. But they did show the official vote—584,486—down considerably from the 609,660 for the 1952 presidential year.

Rep. Robert Harrison got a 264 vote victory over Lawrence Brock, Wakefield democrat, in the nip-and-tuck race for congress in the Third District.

President Eisenhower led the Republican ticket; Frank Sorrel of Syracuse, unsuccessful candidate for governor, topped the democratic slate.

Board of Control—

The new member of the state board of control is well backgrounded in operation of institutions and functioning of the office of the board, which governs state institutions.

He's Harold F. Peterson 49, now board administrative assistant.

Peterson first began working for the board in 1935 as business manager for the state penitentiary. From 1937 to 1942, he was board secretary, then superintendent of the Beatrice home
