Sabbath Well Spent

Duo's Music Excellent

By a Staff Writer

It was one of the most successful concerts of the season Sunday afternoon when two lovelies, Frances Archer and Beverly Gile, sang before an estimated eight hundred persons in the final event of the 1956-'57 season for the O'Neill Community Concert association.

Good musicianship, youth and glamour a la Archer and Gile, combined with an unusual and rare repertoire of folk ballads from 14 countries, drew praise aplenty from those who heard and saw.

But their high point was reserved for American folk music in the closing grouping. The final part included "The Fast Freight", a railroad song; "Home on the Range", a cinch for a sandhills audience, and "Lord, Lord, You've Been So Good to Me," a Kentucky revival song which combined all the joy, remorse and earnestness of a colored camp meeting.

Overwhelming Appeal

With Miss Archer, a blonde soprano occasionally operatic and Miss Gile, a red-haired contralto, providing much of the revival theme, Kentucky style, the "Lord, Lord" had overwhelming appeal. These young artists roved through the world and sang in 11 different languages. It was strictly an afternoon of folk music and balads the world loves.

Versatile musicianship is not an adequate description of their ability.

Misses Archer and Gile, who both love music and love to sing tunes, collaborated their talents to bring to the audience a sense of their own love of music.

These young artists, who make their own arrangement with great professional skill, thoroughly entertained. They educated the listeners, too.

Europe First

The concert included a musical journey through the British Isles as they sang of the Scotch, Irish and Welsh. This charming duo portrayed the true feeling of the gypsy in "The Wraggle-Taggle Gypsies, O" (Elizabethan).

Then to the continent of Europe and the two ladies, in perfect blend, sang the music of France, Germany, Italy and Spain. Among these was the ever-loved "Wieniedien" (setting by Brahms).

In singing the Hawaiian and Japanese folk songs, the beautifully gowned and groomed young ladies who, definitely have a way with song, displayed crystalline voices and exceptional diction.

The comely duo dedicated the last half of their concert to the music of America. They sang of southern love, negro spirituals, and Kentucky mountain songs. There were three encores, including another Kentucky revival ditty, and the audience emptied the big room in full agreement it had been a Sabbath afternoon well spent.

F. E. Parkins, president of the O'Neill association, and John H. McCarville, director, said plans already are being laid for the 1957-'58 concert season.
