Mrs. Donald D. Graham . . . before her marriage she was Miss Margery Lee Norman of Omaha, formerly of O'Neill.

Margery L. Norman, Donald D. Graham United in Marriage

Baskets of pink-and-white gladioli were on either side of the altar railing and deep red peonies and gladioli decorated the altars of St. Patrick's Catholic church Saturday, June 8, for the wedding of Miss Margery Lee Norman of Omaha, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Norman of Wakefield, formerly of O'Neill, and Donald D. Graham of Omaha, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Graham of O'Neill.

The double-ring ceremony was performed at 9 a.m., nuptial mass by Very Rev. Timothy O'Sullivan, church pastor.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, appeared in a white chantilly lace and nylon tulle gown over duchess satin. The fitted lace bodice buttoned at the back and featured a sabrina neckline, accented with scalloped edge tulle inserts.

The sleeves were pointed at the wrists. The very bouffant skirt of nylon tulle was worn over a hoop. Petticoats repeated the lace of the bodice in a wide band of scalloped lace, appliqued in deep star point design. A shirred overskirt of nylon tulle completed the chapel length gown.

She carried a white prayer book with an orchid and lily of the valley.

Miss Jackie Norman of Omaha, the bride's sister, was maid-of-honor. Miss Mary Graham, a sister of the bridegroom, was the bridesmaid. They appeared in peach crystaletto gowns with princess styling, full skirts and sabrina necklines. Streamers fell in the back. Their matching headbands were trimmed with tiny flowers. They carried cascades of peach gladioli.

Edward Graham of Omaha, a brother of the bridegroom, was bestman. Harold Lynch of Omaha was groomsmen. Ushers were Ronald Chezen of Omaha and Thomas Donlin of Pickstown, S.D. They wore dark business suits.

The bride's mother wore an orchid dress with white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue lace dress with white accessories. Each had a white carnation corsage.

Robert Hynes, accompanied by Miss C. Ann Arbutnot, sang "Ave Maria" and "O Lord I Am Not Worthy" and "On This Day".

A breakfast for 20 guests followed at the Town House for the immediate families, Father O'Sullivan and Rev. Robert Duffy.

A reception for one hundred guests was held at the Town House from 2 until 4 p.m. The wedding cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Carl Colfack in the bride's colors. Mrs. Berton Kimball of Osmond, an aunt of the bridegroom, cut the cake. Mrs. Joe Bangs of St. James, Mo., helped serve.

Friends of the bride from Omaha had charge of the gifts and the punch bowl. Mrs. David Maughan of Tilden, a sister of the bridegroom, had charge of the guestbook.

For her going away dress, the bride chose a blue cotton dress with a jacket trimmed in white. She had white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

After a wedding trip to the Ozarks, the couple will reside at 121 South 33d st., Omaha, where the bridegroom will finish his senior year at Creighton university.

Mrs. Graham is a graduate of O'Neill high school and is employed as a secretary at Mutual Casualty company in Omaha.

Mr. Graham, who spent two years with the 82d airborne division, was graduated from St. Mary's academy and is a senior at Creighton university. He is in the school of business administration and will be an accountant.

Nadine Dobrovolny, William D. Sammons in Church Nuptials

ATKINSON—Miss Betty Nadine Dobrovolny, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dobrovolny of Atkinson, and William Duane Sammons, son of Mrs. Lee Sammons of Amelia, were married Wednesday, June 5, in a quiet evening ceremony at 6 o'clock at the First Presbyterian church here. Rev. Curtis Barnett officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride chose a gown of chantilly lace and nylon tulle fashioned with fitted bodice and long tapering sleeves. The scalloped Sabrina neckline was edged with tulle. The scalloped lace peaked bodice accented the bouffant ballerina skirt of tulle. Her veil of illusion was held in place by a matching lace cap edged in pleated tulle and highlighted with ice tinted sequins and seed pearls.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations, pink roses and ivy.

Miss Delores Dobrovolny, sister of the bride, served as maid-of-honor. Miss Shirley Dobrovolny also a sister of the bride, served as a bridesmaid. They were gowned alike in lilac nylon sheer fashioned with princess necklines, brief sleeves and bouffant ballerina skirts. Matching crystaletto banded the neckline and skirt and snug midriff with dainty bows for back interest. Both wore matching headbands. They carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and ivy.

The bridegroom chose a gray business suit for his attire. Robert Adair, friend of the bridegroom, was bestman. Stanley Thompson, also a friend, was groomsmen. They wore business suits with white carnation boutonnieres.

Following the ceremony a dinner was served for the wedding party at the Town House in O'Neill followed by a dance at the Crystal Ballroom in Atkinson. Music was furnished by the Mullein orchestra. A lunch of sandwiches, coffee, and cake was served at intermission for the close friends and relatives. The cake was baked and decorated by Mrs. Duane Beck. Mrs. Alvin Heiser helped prepare the lunch. Both are sisters of the bride.

For traveling, the bride chose a yellow nylon dress with white accessories.

The bride is graduate of Atkinson high school and was employed as a bookkeeper at the American Gear Co. of O'Neill before coming to the First National Bank at Atkinson where she has been employed for the past two years. Mr. Sammons, also a graduate of Atkinson high school, has served in the army and now is associated in farming and ranching north of Amelia, where the couple will make their home following their wedding trip.
