65th Holt Fair Set to Open

Record Number of Livestock Will Be on Exhibition

All is in readiness for the 65th annual Holt county fair, which will open Monday, August 12, and continue through Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Entertainment highlights of this year's exposition will be the rodeo under the lights with performances both Wednesday and Thursday evenings.

"Hoss" Inman of Lamar, Colo., will be the producer and will offer the most rugged rodeo stock ever presented in a Holt county arena.

Fair Secretary James H. Gibson said new rodeo chutes, a new arena and improved seating facilities will await the 1957 fairgoers. "All of the rodeo action will be directly in front of the spectators," Gibson said.

The Curl Amusement company will feature kiddie slides, side shows, Ferris wheel, games of skill on the midway. An advance sale of tickets for the kiddie rides in progress at various stores throughout the county, including all Chambers stores. Advance tickets are 10 cents each. Tickets purchased at the fair grounds for the kiddie rides will be 20 cents each.

At 1:30 p. m., on both Wednesday and Thursday will be grand parades of livestock entries. Glenn Hudson and his orchestra have been booked for Wednesday and Thursday evening dancing at the American Legion ballroom in Chambers.

Both midgets and adult baseball will be featured. On Wednesday, at 2 p. m., the Chambers Independents will host the Ainsworth team. Both are entries in the North-Central Nebraska league. On Thursday, Chambers will go against the O'Neill Rockets, also a league member.

Monday has been designated as entry day; Tuesday, judging day; Wednesday and Thursday, entertainment days.

President Lloyd Gleed of Chambers said fair officials are "supremely confident" this year's agricultural exhibits will be the best in the long history of the fair. Other fair officers are: Vern Sageser of Amelia, vice-president; Steve Shavlik of Chambers, treasurer; Ray Beed, C. V. Robertson, George Dowe, T. E. Alderson and Ray Hoffmann of Chambers, and Henry Wood of Ewing, directors.

Superintendents are: Mr. Wood, livestock; Mrs. Vernon Smith of Chambers, flowers; Mrs. Loa Hubbard of Chambers, needle art; Neil Davis of O'Neill, 4-H; Thomas Lambert of Ewing, farm produce; Mrs. James H. Gibson of Chambers, pantry stores.

Four-H livestock exhibits are expected to establish a new high.

More Rain Cheers Farmers in Area

Thunder showers continue to break the heat and boost agricultural prospects. The countryside is verdant and lush, despite the calendar. Normally hot July and August winds have browned vegetation by this time of the year.

Saturday forenoon a quarter of an inch of rain fell. Orchard received 1.25 inches during a 36-hour period ending Saturday night. Creighton received .75 on Friday.

Walter Pease, living 12 miles southwest of O'Neill, reported a half-inch rain Saturday morning. Joe Welsh, living northwest of Emmet, said a half-inch rain fell at his place and a lake, dry a year ago, is now filled with water.

Floyd Ritts, living about eight miles northwest of O'Neill, said a half-inch of moisture was received at his place.

Late Wednesday night more showers developed at O'Neill, accompanied by considerable lightning. Up until midnight an estimated half-inch rain fell (not included in table that follows).

High wind last night toppled several power poles and lines a half-mile west of the drive-in theater and tied up highway 20 traffic until the lines could be cleared.

Corn prospects are among the best in the memory of many residents.
