Lincoln Premiere, Capri Inspired by Continental Styling

Six models of the 1958 Lincoln Premiere and Lincoln Capri, inspired by the styling of the Continental, are on display in dealership showrooms across the nation in November. The Lohaus Motor company in O'Neill, Lincoln dealership in this area, is showing the 1958 Lincoln Capri.

In each line there is a four-door sedan, a four-door hardtop and a two-door hardtop coupe.

Designers and stylists enhanced the low, and long graceful lines of each Lincoln by complementing each model with the Continental roof line, canted dual headlights, an extended long, low hood and a wide, sweeping rear deck lid.

Set between the canted dual headlights is a horizontally-louvered grille with a massive flared bumper across the front. A Lincoln script on the left side of the grille gives the car distinctive identification.

From the side, the Lincoln suggests the classic simplicity of the Continental profile. Along the side is a single strip of chrome which extends from the rear bumper to the middle of the front door.

On Premiere models, the end of this molding is highlighted by an eight pointed star.

The styling theme at the rear matches the front with an oval-shaped horizontally-louvered grille treatment. On either side are integrated tail lights and backup lights set into the grille. The bumper matches the chrome treatment on the lower portion of the rear deck lid which outlines and protects the oval-shaped grille.

Committees are as follows: Tamzan Peterson, Karen Tuttle, Lyle Potter, Grover Shaw, Richard Woslager, advertisement and program; Grover Shaw, Lyle Potter, Ronnie Mott, properties and stage scenery; Donald Wright, Grover Shaw, Louis Stamp, tickets; Waugetta Wragge and Lyle Larson, make-up; Tamzan Peterson, Waugetta Wragge, Karen Tuttle, Lyle Larson, ushers; Gloria Schroeder and Phyllis Larson, features.

EXPANDING POWER

How NPPS provides plenty of low-cost electricity to help towns "on the line" attract industry

Cities connected to Nebraska's statewide transmission system have no power shortages . . . they know they can call on the tremendous hydroelectric and steam generation plants operated or controlled by the Nebraska Public Power System at any time for more power for expanding and new industries. Interconnections with other large systems back up this power supply.

They know that the electric rates, paid by industry in Nebraska, are much lower than the national average . . . and businessmen know that large interconnected generating plants provide the most economical operation, the greatest guarantee for abundant power at lower rates at all times.

Nebraska public power agencies will spend more than 50 million dollars in the next three years to expand and improve the state's electric power supply. This means that Nebraska will become even more attractive to new and expanding industry.

Nebraska Public Power System pledges continued effort in its program to attract industry through abundant low-cost electricity.
