Fill Auditorium for Yule Program

EWING—A program of special interest to Ewing and vicinity was presented at the Ewing public school auditorium Thursday afternoon by the grades of the school. Almost every seat was filled in spite of the zero temperatures and bad roads.

Miss Iva Sala, with her kindergarten and 1st grade pupils, presented a playlet "Twelve Little Elves." The performance of the tiny tots featured costumes. The 2d and 3d grades, under the direction of their teacher, Miss Genevieve Vandersnick, presented the play, "Finding the Right Tree." Costumes were clever and original.

After reading the book "Why the Chimes Rang" during the month of December, the 4th and 5th grades, with Mrs. Grace Thompson as teacher, dramatized the story. The sentiment expressed in the story and the play expressed the true meaning of Christmas. Another play given by these 2 grades was "The Christmas Strike."

Other Ewing News

A serving tray and wedding cake topped by a miniature bride and bridegroom were gifts from their friends. The evening was spent socially. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dunaway went to Hastings on Friday to get their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunaway, and children, who will spend the holiday vacation at their home and with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Billings.

A gala time was had at the Ewing public school Friday afternoon, when all grades had parties from 1 to 2 o'clock. Movies were shown, gifts were exchanged and treats were passed out. Then all were dismissed for the Christmas vacation until January 2.

Most of the teachers had their vacation plans completed. Coach and Mrs. L. Ewing planned to go to Mitchell, to visit relatives; Miss Donna Rudisil goes to Palsade, to be a guest at the home of her parents; Miss Lena Baker will spend her vacation at her home in Neligh, as will Miss Elsie Chase and Miss Genevieve Candersnick, both of Ewing. Pruden, Mrs. Ray Angus and Mrs. Leland Welke and the chapter sister, Mrs. Duane Jensen, gave the group a 3-blossom poinsetta. Games were led by Patricia Rotherham.

Fertilizer Test Information Out —

Results and observations of 27 fertilizer tests with winter wheat throughout Nebraska's wheat growing areas are contained in a circular off the press at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture. The effects of these different items were studied:

Application of nitrogen and phosphorus fertilizers alone and in combination; an application of potassium fertilizer in combination with nitrogen and phosphorus fertilizers; time of application of fertilizers; kind of nitrogen carriers, and the application of nitrogen. The outstate testing scientists also studied the influence of fertilizer on the yield of rye in northeastern Nebraska. They said in their report that significant increases were obtained on sandy soils. A combination of fall-applied nitrogen and phosphorus fertilizers resulted in a maximum yield of 6.2 bushels of rye and six bushels of vetch seed per acre. The Madison vetch had been seeded with rye at the rate of one peck per acre. The yield without fertilizer was less than a bushel per acre. Authors of the publication are G. W. Lowrey, R. A. Olson, A. F. Dreier and P. L. Ehler. The county agent's office has more information on fertilizers and their uses on crops.
