Prairie Land Talk — Advise to O'Neill Saddle Clubbers: Don't Impersonate McEvony or McClure

By ROMAINE SAUNDERS

LINCOLN—To the social features of the community it is noted a move is on to get a saddle club going in O'Neill. Old riders can recommend riding horses for health, pleasure and the thrill of some hazards.

If your mount on the lopsie hits a badger hole he more than likely will turn a somersault and you will get a spill.

That little state of Rhode Island also has its scandals. The treasurer of a university is accused with swiping $15,000 of the schools funds. . . According to one member of the faculty of the state university there was some census padding in 1890 by a few of Nebraska's biggest towns—a disclosure which is not very important. . . What are termed "mid-western democrats" have declared themselves for the renomination of Mr. Truman and his former running mate, Vice-President Barkley. The midwest democrats are probably the midwest federal job holders. . . In 1850 a writer in the Dublin Nation sized us up: "A wonderful empire emerging amid the silence of the earth and daily adding to its power and pride." We have made quite a noise to disturb the "silence of the earth" in the past 100 years. . . Jeannette Rankin was the first woman to break into congress, a member of the house from Montana. Now there are 10 women in the house and one in the senate. . . Fred Curd, of Winchelsea, England, is paid $3.15 a year for looking at the sea every morning as he goes to work, to see if a pirate sloop is coming, of which there has been none since the 17th century.

I had been rather friendly toward the bid of the gentleman down at Ord for the republican nomination for governor, but for Senator Carson to ask for endorsement at the county conventions indicates over anxiousness for that upholstered throne in the governor's ornate quarters.

What is this thing now that Holt county patriots who work their land are supposed to do to get a permit, a license, a commission, a certificate or what is it the paid functionaries are handing out? I wonder how master farmers such as Den Murphy out in the Michigan settlement, Bill Grothe up by Emmet or George Meals out from Atkinson like the idea of being told what to do, when to do it or whether it be beans or turnip seed they are to plant. Probably none of these oldtimers care to be relieved of the responsibility of thinking for themselves and determining which shall be what with respect to their sowing and reaping.

To start with, club members may better not undertake to impersonate Jay McEvony, Andy Gallagher or Hoy McClure on their pitchin' broncs.

That Tennessee senator with a name difficult to spell anybody's guess how it is pronounced, says he is going after the nomination of his party for president. It would be interesting to have a Southern democrat in the white house to see what he could do. Northern republicans would almost welcome the novelty.

With ears attune to the soft flutter of U. S. treasury notes, Lincoln business interests and hopeful labor has been given a thrill by the announcement of "reactivation" of what amounts to a military air base, in other words, a target for enemy bombs if the expected invasion breaks loose in the months ahead. Something fine is fading away from the capitol city of prairie land in the scramble for factories, industrial growth and federal financed institutions, the more of which are in a community the more abundant are the targets for bomb raids. This may not be and again it may be. Much of the world has become our enemies that some day may try another Pearl Harbor, and with our military might everywhere but guarding our shores, what is there to hinder it? Does the government air base mean further encroachment on our capitol city as a cultural center?

A highway map in circulation has it that Chambers is the most populous town in Holt county, with a population of 4,850. Of course the patriots there have reason to feel pretty big. What is lacking in quantity is made up in quality.

Finance Minister Douglas Abbot estimated that the fiscal year 1951-'52 would bring a surplus in the Canada treasury of $3,000,000. To date the treasury has a surplus of $605,000,000. . . 832 persons were shot, 173 fatally, during the hunting season in various states. . . There have been 10 presidents of the United States with a military rank of general. . . Three guys just released from the penitentiary got rough with a city patrolman when along came a railroad worker with a good Irish name and says to the cop, "Want some help?" He did. The railroad, handy with his dukes, laid one fellow out, the second took to his heels and was caught by the Good Samaritan, while the policeman ha.uffed the gent knocked out and then corraled the third. The 3 were put back under the supervision of jail functionaries.

Since congress started on the hunt more than 4 years ago to clean out the traitors in government employ, 4,353 individuals have been removed from federal service. Of these, 570 were discharged, the others quitting voluntarily when they saw what was coming their way.

The President's doubts about a military man making a good president, says one observer, are partly correct. And adds, one former captain failed miserably—Captain Truman.

The idea of universal military grip upon our boys for a period of 8 years is repugnant to American thought, yet if it were so as to merely provide for those boys who seem to have no other ambition than loafing the streets a worthwhile service would be brought to them.

This generation has missed the fun of "Homeseekers' Excursions, one fare plus $2," put on yearly by the railroads before the advent of the automobile. One-way rates, "plus $2," not yet announced for home seekers to take off for the moon.
