Mutual Insurance 200 th Appiversary 1952

SE1/4SE1/4

As Mutual Casualty and Fire Insurance, an American Institution, begins celebration of its 200th Birthday, 20,000,000 of your fellow Americans share in its sizeable savings and protection.

PIONEERED by Benjamin Franklin, in 1752, Mutual Casualty and Fire Insurance retains, today, all of its original spirit of mutual helpfulness-the same spirit that was practically essential to survival in colonial America. And as Mutual Insurance agents, we take pride in helping to maintain this tradition of service and savings.

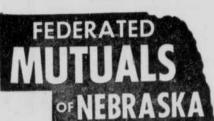

Today 20,000,000 Americans, and American business firms, each with an ownership interest in a Mutual Insurance Company, are protected by the entire resources of their Mutual Insurance Companies. They share, as owners, in the savings that result from selection of members willing to become good risks. And further savings accrue to these 20,000,000 owners of Insurance Companies which bear the title of "Mutual", as a result of the efforts of their companies to reduce losses.
