DO THEY REALLY?
Winding from a spot in the city of Jerusalem out beyond the walls to the hill of Golgotha, is the most beautiful way in the world—wonderful because 20 centuries ago Jesus Christ trod this way, bearing the cross on which He was to die for the salvation of all mankind.

A pious tradition tells us—and it's so logical and so natural that it's easy to believe—that after the Ascension, Christ's Blessed Mother and others who knew Him made daily visits to memorize spots along that way—places hallowed by the great sufferings and kindly acts of Jesus on His way to His death.

As Christianity spread, more and more people made pilgrimages to Jerusalem to tread the way that He had trod in adoring commemoration of His Passion and Death. Later, because so long a journey was impossible to all, reproductions of these hallowed spots were fashioned in many places in Europe, and to these places people flocked to meditate and worship.

Finally in 1731 Pope Clement XII sanctioned universal spread of the devotions now known as the Stations of the Cross. That is why today in every Catholic church in every land you may see in painting or sculpture 14 "stations" each visualizing one of the events of the first agonized way—events to stir the heart and mind of him to meditates on them.

Can any Christian ever forget the passion and death of Jesus Christ? Should any Christian be allowed to, The Catholic church keeps always before its people reminders of this stupendous sacrifice. It offers the choicest blessings in the name of God to him who, with contrite heart, journeys mentally with Christ along that most beautiful way in he world—the way of the Cross.

During Lent the stations of the cross are part of the weekly public devotions. But every day many drop into the nearest Catholic church and privately make the stations of the cross, offering up the graces gained for themselves, their friends, or for the souls of those who have gone before.

Lutherans to Raise Expansion Sum

In days like these when, quite generally, people are hesitant to commit themselves too deeply, the 1,800,000 members of the Lutheran church (Missouri synod) will during this year undertake a "Conquest for Christ" project. Under this banner, the Lutheran church hopes to raise $10,000,000 to further a program of missions and education.

In days like these when state of the union messages concern themselves with "perilous times" and billions of dollars are spent on bolstering an "active" defense in the hope of salvaging a shredded peace on earth, these forward looking Christians are expressing their faith in God as well as their faith in America, by planning to speak more energetically and more convincingly to more of their fellowmen about the "peace that passes all understanding."

In undertaking their timely contribution to the welfare of the church and the country, the Missouri synod Lutherans are directing all their energies to the greatest task in the church's 105-year history. To succeed in this endeavor, each church member will have to make a personal sacrifice.

And—what is more—feeling is high among the leaders of the church that the goal of $10,000,000 will be exceeded.

Christ Lutheran church, of O'Neill, Rev. R. W. Olson, pastor, is one of the 5,000 congregations of the Lutheran church-Missouri synod cooperating in the "Conquest for Christ" program.

Mrs. David Stannard and daughter, Evelyn, returned on Monday, February 11, from Denver, Colo., where Mrs. Stannard had been visiting her sons for several months. Evelyn Stannard went after her mother on Sunday, February 10.
