Fisher-Prill Nuptials at Page

PAGE—Miss Margaret Prill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Prill, of Page, became the bride of Melvin Fischer, son of Mrs. Christine Fischer, of Emerson, in an early afternoon ceremony on Tuesday, March 25. The couple is residing on a farm near Wakefield.

Rev. C. E. Wilcox performed the ceremony before an altar of huckleberry and white candles. Immediately before the ceremony Miss Marian Scranton, of Plainview, sang, "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life" and "Because," accompanied by Merl Ring, of Wakefield.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a ballerina gown of white lace and net fashioned with fitted lace over satin bodice fastened with small buttons down the front, a queen Victoria collar and long pointed sleeves. The full skirt was of alternate tiers of lace and net over lace. Her net fingertip veil was held in place by a small lace cap. She wore a pearl necklace and earrings. A spray of white carnations formed her bouquet.

Mrs. Robert Van Horn was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a pink ballerina gown of taffeta with a net overskirt. The leaf and rhinestone motif on the strapless bodice was repeated on the collar of the bolero. Her pink net hat was trimmed with rhinestones. She carried a colonial bouquet of variegated pink and white carnations.

The bridegroom was attended by Dean Sandahl, a brother-in-law, of Lincoln. Ushers were Clarence Fischer, of Lincoln, the bridegroom's brother and Robert Prill, a brother of the bride.

A reception in the church parlors immediately followed the ceremony.

The couple is now residing on a farm near Wakefield.

Toll Roads Are Not the Answer —

LINCOLN — The seekers of a solution to Nebraska's highway problem have often toyed with the idea of toll roads. It's under discussion right now by the highway finance committee of the legislative council, research arm of the legislature.

The suggestion that some sections of the state be traversed by modern, safe toll highways, built on the principle of the famous Pennsylvania turnpike, have popular support.

Now, State Engineer Harold Aitken has taken a long, hard look at toll roads in general and one in particular: a hypothetical beeline speedway between Lincoln and Omaha. Aitken, who is a lawyer as well as engineer, is not much of a dreamer. He has a lawyer's zeal for facts and his engineer's training demands that all the angles be studied.

His conclusion: the hypothetical road would not pay its way. Its annual income would be $3,000 less than estimated operating costs and interest.

Authorities have always held that if a toll road anywhere in Nebraska had a chance of success, it would be between the state's two largest cities.
