'Human Cannonball' to Thrill Celebrants

Famous Family Will Appear at Neligh

NELIGH — A five thousand dollar program for Neligh's annual July 4 celebration has been planned by a Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars committee. Top billing on the one-day program goes to the Zucchini and the "human cannonball" act which has been written about in Life, Reader's Digest, Saturday Evening Post, Esquire, Colliers, and other leading national magazines. The act is widely acclaimed as the greatest in outdoor show business.

Victoria Zucchini, a member of the Tampa, Fla., Italian-American family which numbers 35, will be the young miss who is shot from a monster cannon over a ferris wheel and into a net some 200 feet away.

Another feature of the program will include the Flying Malzoras, aerialists who have performed in all of the major circuses on their advance to stardom.

In addition to those two acts both scheduled for afternoon and evening, there will be a free-for-all bicycle race for youths under 12 with a purse of $50 and a county pony race with a purse of $100.

Ball games scheduled for the day include an early afternoon affair between two Legion midget teams and a regulation game between two of the league leading teams in northeast Nebraska.

A big midway will be provided by the same carnival company which has appeared at the Fourth celebrations the past several years.

In addition, the fireworks display will be even larger than in past years. A dance in the park pavilion will climax the program. Bobby Mills' orchestra will play.

Fish Perish as Streams Dry Up

High Mortality Rate in Small Pools

The hot dry weather has had its effect on the fishing situation in many parts of Holt county. Many of the creeks are drying up and the water is standing in pools where once there was flowing water.

In some of the pools the fish are gathered by the thousands, and it is possible to get them by the bushel. Many of the conscientious farmers are taking the fish from the small pools which are running low on oxygen and transplanting them into places where the water is still flowing.

South of Chambers the creeks which only a few weeks ago were swiftly flowing streams have dried up to the point where there is water in only a few deep holes. These places are full of carp, bullheads and sunfish. In some of the shallow places pike up to two feet long have been caught by hand.

This seemed strange to many, because for years no one has caught pike or seen them in that locality. Fish lake, west of Atkinson, has become so shallow that many large pike and bass have died. These fish have perished mainly because of the sand in the water which apparently lodges in the gills and shuts off the supply of oxygen.
