

Berigan-Froelich Rites Read at St. Patrick's

On Saturday, August 16, St. Patrick's Catholic church in O'Neill was the scene of a very beautiful wedding when Very Rev. Timothy O'Sullivan, church pastor, united in marriage Miss Nancy Catherine Froelich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Froelich, and John Robert Berigan, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Berigan of Atkinson. The double-ring ceremony was performed at 11 a.m. mass before altars decorated with white gladioli, palms and ferns. The papal blessing sent through the apostolic delegate at Washington, D.C., A. G. Cicognani, was read.

During the ceremony, all the bride's brothers and sisters were in the sanctuary as participants in the rite.

Hand tinted candles ranging from a blue at the base to a delicate pink at the tip marked the aisles. At the base of each candle was a bouquet of cornflowers intermingled with romance blue ribbon.

The ushers enclosed the pews with ribbons of romance blue.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, appeared in a gown which featured a Chantilly lace bodice embroidered in iridescent paillettes. Tiers of matching lace were repeated in a panel on the bouffant taffeta skirt which ended in a court train. The sleeves were of three-quarter length and the neckline of boat design. A flat hat of lace held her fingertip illusion veil. Her gloves were white kid. Her bouquet was of baby orchids and stephanotis which she placed at the feet of the Blessed Virgin, following the canon.

The bridegroom appeared in formal attire, as did the other male members of the wedding party.

Miss Mary Ellen Froelich, who was maid-of-honor for her sister, appeared in a white nylon tulle gown which featured a bouffant, shirred skirt banded in romance blue velvet. Her sleeveless bodice had a rounded neckline. She carried delphinium and cornflowers.

The bridesmaids were the Misses Barbara Birmingham, cousin of the bride; Joan Berigan of Atkinson, sister of the bridegroom; Mary Ann Foxley of Omaha, and Patti Keiser of Chicago, Ill. They appeared in romance blue gowns identical to that of the maid-of-honor. All the attendants wore fitted caps of matching tulle and pearls. The bridesmaids' flowers matched those of the maid-of-honor.

The bestman was Edward Kamin of Berwyn, Ill. Ushers were William J. Froelich, a brother of the bride; Edward Campbell of Green Bay, Wis., a cousin of the bride; John Berigan, a cousin of the bridegroom; John Wachter of Omaha and John Keating of Atkinson.

Miss Marde Birmingham, a cousin of the bride, was soloist. She sang "O Santissima", "Ave Maria", "Jesus Thou Art Coming", "Just for Today" and "On This Day."

Altar boys were James and Charles Froelich, brothers of the bride.

Mrs. Froelich appeared in a gown of moss green taffeta and wore a green orchid. Mrs. Berigan wore navy taffeta with a white orchid.

A reception for 300 guests followed in the Froelich home and gardens. A background of white latticework entwined with huckleberry and southern smilax formed the setting for the receiving line in the living room.

The guest book was in charge of Miss Mary Louise Birmingham, a cousin of the bride. An aunt, Mrs. H. J. Birmingham, had charge of the gifts.

Miss Marjorie Sinek of Winnetka, Ill., and Mrs. John Redmond of Omaha poured. Mrs. Frank Froelich, Mrs. Edward M. Gallagher, Mrs. J. Gatz and Mrs. H. J. Lohaus were at the serving table.

The bridal cake, baked by H. W. Heriford and his son, Bennett, was a study in artistry. The six tiers, each tier a double layer, was topped by a tiny arch with flowers. Bells, roses and lattice work formed the decorations. Wayne Chapman of Omaha was organist during the reception.

The visiting priests included Rev. Robert F. Barry of Long Pine, Rev. Richard I. Farr of At-
