Popular Waddingtons Simply Love Music

By MRS. R. J. HERING Special Correspondent

A quintet of singers who are entertaining for the fun they get out of it, and because they all love music, is the Perry Waddington, jr., family of Neligh. At first, Perry, jr., appeared on the stage at various entertainments alone with his guitar singing a variety of songs from western, cowboy, hillbilly and popular to sacred. Then, when he married his wife, Opal, joined him on the platform and there were two entertainers. When Lois, now 11-years-old, was 21-months-old, she came on the stage to sing "Santa Claus Is Coming to Town" and the house went wild. Later on, Joyce, now 7-years-old, joined the group, to make four. Now little Billy, in his 6th year, helps to swell the volume. The youngsters sing solos, duets and form a trio, and also sing with Mother and Daddy. Mr. Waddington has a repertoire of more than 600 songs, many of which he knows by heart. He learned them listening to the radio entertainers. The family appear on all sorts of programs—PTA, farm bureau at country schools, at community club meetings on radio and just for the fun they get out of it. They have appeared at the O'Neill American Legion club. They dress in true western style and make a very attractive appearance. Mrs. Waddington plays the piano, Mr. Waddington the violin. Lois is taking music lessons and is fair to go far if her present policy may be used as a criterion. Folks passing their home in Neligh may hear music any hour of the day or evening from one of the several sources—piano, violin, guitar, radio or phonograph.
