

'Just Gabby' Thinks Elimination of Double-Parking in O'Neill Okay

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE

Greetings, all you ladies! I know you're busier than busy, putting up fruit, canning pickles, doing all the numberless things that have to be done this time of year.

When it is so hot, one doesn't feel any too ambitious, but the work, unfortunately always has to be done just the same. We had a cool day recently, and I grabbed the chance to make some bread, rolls and butterscotch pecan rolls. They're always a favorite at our house.

Mostly we like to eat cold breakfast foods this time of year, but pancakes taste pretty good, too, in the cool of the morning. And we always think that the very best ones are made from sour milk or buttermilk. You can use either one in this recipe for—

SOUR MILK GRIDDLE CAKES

Two cups sifted flour, one teaspoon baking soda, 2½ cups sour milk or buttermilk, one egg (well beaten), one tablespoon shortening, (melted), one tablespoon sugar.

Sift the flour once, measure, adding baking soda, salt and sugar and sift again. Combine milk, egg and shortening. Add to flour mixture. Stir only until smooth. Bake on a hot greased griddle. Makes around two dozen cakes.

Drop fresh fruits for canning after peeling in a solution of vinegar and salt water. Make it by using two tablespoons of salt and two tablespoons vinegar to each gallon cold water. Rinse the fruit before canning. This keeps the fruit from turning dark.

Says Merchants Park on Saturday Nights —
Dear Frontier Woman:

Well, it is the middle of the afternoon and I would be ashamed if some one would drop in and find me writing a letter with my house in such a mess. But the rush is over and now I feel the let down. The combine is parked, after a two weeks run, and it is so good to have only my family for dinner today. I am some kind of an awful person for feeling that way, I guess. But don't think for a minute I wasn't thankful for the men who sat around my table and ate anything that was put on the table and ate it like they enjoyed it.

Have been making some pickles and surely am thankful that I have managed to keep the vines alive in all this heat and dry weather. Will send along one of my favorite pickle recipes. I've lost the name to them so will call them—

SLICED PICKLES

Slice one gallon of cucumbers real thin. Cover with cold water and one cup salt for seven days. On the seventh day, drain and rinse. Cover with boiling water and one tablespoon alum. On the eighth day drain and cover pickles with water and one teaspoon ginger and bring to a boil. Boil about five minutes. Drain and let stand for 2 hours or more. Boil 1 quart vinegar, five cups sugar, one teaspoon celery seed, one teaspoon mustard seed. After it comes to a boil, add pickles and bring to a boil again and seal.

I have a couple of hints I like very much. I use a sponge when I wax the floor. When I am done, I rinse it good in warm water.

Being I am a farm wife and have our own land, I keep some in the refrigerator for my pies and cakes, after I have beat it on high speed with my food mixer. It will be as white and fluffy as vegetable shortening.

Well, I have taken up a lot of space and your time, so I better get busy, as it is nearly chore time.

Before I close I would like to say that it is a very good thing for O'Neill to do away with double parking.

But I would like to have everyone go down the street on Saturday night and take note whose cars are parked next to the curb. It is the owner of the store and their employees' cars! It would be good if a few of those merchants would take a few good ideas from John Conard of Emmet. But then I am glad we have O'Neill even if we do have trouble parking. What would we do if we couldn't crab?

Enjoy your column very much and hope I haven't tired you out too much from all this gabbing.
