

O'Neill Reader Used to Play with Children of The Frontier's Founder

By BLANCHE SPANN PEASE

If your small fry didn't start to school this week, they likely will next. Often where there are several small children, it is necessary to economize—but don't do it, I pray, where the children's school lunches are concerned.

Try to send lunches in an attractive lunch bucket, pail or basket, or kit. Nowadays you can get such attractive accessories to make lunch look better, and taste better, too.

Remember that cup cakes are more easily eaten at school than wedges of cake and that they'll keep moist longer if baked in paper baking cups.

Use waxed paper for sandwiches occasionally. Sometimes use those waxed paper sandwich bags.

Be sure to vary the kinds of sandwiches, fillings, kinds of breads, cakes, cookies, chewy foods and such.

you for a long time but like so many other things with me, I just kept putting it off.

I have been a reader of The Frontier for a long time.

In fact, when I was small, I played with the Doc Mathews children. Their father started The Frontier. I believe. Anyway, I had it in my home for 45 years and look forward to it's coming.

I am sending two recipes which are old ones in my family and can be used this time of year very nicely.

CORN SALAD Twelve ears of corn, equal amount of chopped cabbage, 1 1/2 cups of sugar, four tablespoons dry mustard, two tablespoons of salt, one green or ripe pepper, one quart vinegar. Cook all together for 20 minutes and seal while hot.

RIPE TOMATO RELISH Skin 30 large ripe tomatoes, core 12 large apples, 10 onions, remove the seeds and stems from six green peppers. Chop or grind all very fine. Cut up tomatoes and grind coarsely the apples, onions and peppers. Mix in five tablespoons of salt, one pint of vinegar, and sugar to taste. Cook all together very slowly for 1 1/2 hours and seal.

This is very good served with home baked beans. My family eats it on bread or butter or on most anything they ate. I have used canned tomatoes guessing the amount to use.
