Each Farmer Being Contacted by PMA

"Every farmer in Holt county is to have an opportunity to cooperate in the 1953 agricultural conservation program through an on-the-farm visit by the local PMA community committee."

explained Harry E. Ressel, chairman of the Holt production and marketing administration.

"It is pointed out that the urgent need to take care of every acre of farmland so that our farms will continue to meet the needs of more and more people makes it essential to move ahead in soil and water conservation. This means conservation on more acres that have not been protected and improved in the past and it means more effective use of conservation measures on all farms," Ressel explained.

The agricultural conservation program has proved an effective means of getting farmers to adopt soil and water conservation practices on their farms. Once practices have become established, it has been encouraging shifts to other needed practices. The aim is to use the limited assistance available to encourage and help farmers with those practices which otherwise would not be carried out to the extent and within the time necessary to assure the nation's increasing food needs.

The 1953 program is centered on the most needed conservation on the individual farm and ACP assistance will be used only for the most needed practices. The farm-to-farm-visits by community committees will start October 1.
