Toasted Corn Bread Tops Chicken a la King Taste

Just how the name "King" came to be associated with this popular luncheon, dinner or supper dish is a matter that usually brings forth a little discussion.

Some claim that Chicken a la King was named for a Philadelphia restaurant owner who dreamed up the dish late one evening, years ago, when his supply of chicken was low and a late-evening crowd ordered chicken. Others believe it was so named because it is fare fit for a king.

Whatever its rightful origin may be, you can't beat Chicken or Turkey a la King for goodness when it is served on toasted corn bread. Corn bread possesses a rich flavor that's naturally sociable with the tasty creamed chicken or turkey.

A strong point in favor of this combination is that the toasted corn bread will not go limp when it's covered with the hot mixture.

Toasted corn bread makes the perfect base for the King method of using the strippings taken from the left over carcass of a holiday bird, whether it's turkey or chicken.

CHICKEN A LA KING ON TOASTED CORN BREAD

- 1/2 cup green pepper, chopped
- 1 tablespoon onion
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine.
- 1/4 cup flour
- 1 cup chicken stock
- 1 cup cream
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon white pepper

- 2 tablespoons pimiento, cut
  - 3 cups diced cooked chicken or turkey
  - 2 egg yolks, well beaten
  - 1/2 cup chicken or turkey stock, cold
- Toasted corn bread (recipe below)
- Brown green pepper and onion lightly in butter or margarine. Blend in the flour. Add stock and cream and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add salt, pepper, pimiento, and chicken, and cook, covered, 20 minutes in top of double boiler. Just before serving, stir in the well-beaten egg yolks mixed with the 1/2 cup stock. Serve on squares of corn bread which have been split and toasted in toaster or broiler. Yield: 6 servings.

CORN BREAD

- 1 1/2 cups corn meal
  - 1/2 cup sifted flour
  - 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
  - 3 teaspoons baking powder
  - 2 eggs, beaten slightly
  - 1 1/4 cups milk
  - 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine.
- (If self-rising corn meal and flour are used, omit salt and baking powder.)
- Mix and sift the dry ingredients together. Combine beaten egg, milk, and melted butter or margarine which has been cooled. Pour liquids over dry ingredients, mixing only until moistened. Pour into a well-greased 8- or 9-inch square pan and bake in a 400°F. oven until it shrinks from the sides of the pan, about 20 to 25 minutes.

Letter to Editor

December 9, 1952
Carroll W. Stewart
Editor, Frontier
O'Neill, Nebr.

I trust that all is going well with The Frontier and with yourself, also with the town of O'Neill City, Town of O'Neal City, the pioneer merchant used to call it.

I desire to tell you of the latest noteworthy move in connection with that new book of old times which you advertised somewhat—"Candle Lights of History." A New York publisher read and studied the book, and reported very favorably on it. Evidently he desired to publish it and promote sale in all ways possible. And he offered liberal royalties to the author.

However, the contract offered by the publisher contained a few provisions that seemed to favor publisher much more than author. Therefore, author offered objections. Publisher invited suggestions for changes. Author offered suggestions. Publisher called proposed deal off.

So there it is. The book was highly commended by publisher, author was offered a contract for publication and sale, etc. But the book still remains entirely in hands of author.

And so, life rolls along.
