SACRIFICES FOR WAR

Ever increasing sacrifices must be made in order that the present world war may be won. Many of our allies are already making total sacrifices, not only of physical comforts but of their lives. Here in the United States we are being asked to use less of this and that in food and clothing which we have hitherto enjoyed. Many of us hesitate to give up many things not because we are not willing to aid the government, but for the reason we suspect that we will forego these comforts while profiteers make money out of our sacrifices. There is evidence of this controversy raging all about us day by day. The farmers want higher prices for their products, labor wants higher wages and manufacturers want high prices for their articles; and all of them want the soldiers and sailors to fight and die for $30.00 per month that they may continue to "enjoy the blessings" of the war effort.

The American people will make sacrifices of almost everything in order to win. The one sacrifice which they could make to hasten victory is that of "Color Prejudice". If and when they slay this monster they will have gone a long way to win the battle against the Axis powers.

SIR RICHARD CRIPPS COMES TO POWER

Last week Sir Richard Cripps was made a member of the War cabinet of Great Britain in a post second only to that of Prime Minister Churchill. Cripps, an aristocrat, turned "radical" was until recently ambassador to Russia where he won the confidence and respect of the Russian leaders and the Russian people. He insists that in order to win the war and afterward the peace, we must take Russia into fellowship. And this, notwithstanding the fact that our economic theories are at variance, as, indeed they were at other times when there were other rulers of the lands of all the Russia's.

We congratulate the British people upon the elevation of Sir Richard Cripps to his present post. If and when Churchill leaves the post of Prime Minister, we hope Sir Richard succeeds him.

THE NEGRO AND DOUGLAS COUNTY RELIEF ROLLS

Director Voght of the Douglas County Assistance Office recently made his report. He stated that 22 percent of the persons on his relief rolls were Negroes "because colored discrimination denies them work". And may we add that "enemy aliens" are employed even when the loyal Negro is denied that very employment. And thus we achieve National Unity, victory over the Axis and Democracy.

Director Voght has started a "train of thought" for victory.

CONTROL OF AGRICULTURE

Leaders of the National Grange one of the largest of the Farm Organizations, insists that there is too much government control over agriculture and that unless it is relaxed, the liberty which we talk so much about winning in war will be lost to the farmers in peace. Verily, there are tremendous times.

HON. JOSEPH W. MARTIN

Hon. Joseph W. Martin, Minority Leader in the United States House of Representatives and Chairman of the Republican National Committee, will address the Founders Day Banquet at Lincoln, Nebraska, Saturday night. His thesis, doubtless, will be National Unity as a necessity for winning the war. And whereas, he will maintain this view, he will also insist that neither the war nor the peace can be won and our form of government perpetuated, unless we hold, defend and protect the TWO PARTY SYSTEM against anyone who shall assail it, for this is the final check and balance under our theory of government vital to national ideals and life.

Mr. Martin has one quality, found, too often, in small measure in public men, DEEP SINCERITY AND INTELLECTUAL AND MORAL HONESTY.

Come again, Mr. Martin, we are always glad to have a statesman of your stature in our midst.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

Last Sunday marked the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

Millions of pages have been written about this great man. The story of his heroic life has been told in every language in every land where men have learned of freedom and sought to enjoy it. In the present conflict of arms and ideas we turn to Washington for inspiration and courage for in these respects above all others, he was supreme. With these two weapons he held his "ragged rebels" together and with them fought a war of liberation. He sought and accepted the aid of all men of all colors and creeds who believed in the cause of American freedom.

Often, when his little army was discouraged, cold and hungry and almost naked; he stood by his ideals of liberty and by the force of his personality and well nigh divine faith, he led his men together for seven years and finally led them to victory.

The army Washington commanded, known as the "continental army" consisted of 35,000 men, three thousand of whom were Negroes. With all units, French, German and others, the total number of men engaged on the American side, ran as high as 250,000 men. After the war was over, Washington retired to his home at Mt. Vernon, Va., where he planned to spend the last days of his life in peace. But this was not to be. He was recalled from his retirement and became the first President of the young Republic. And after serving two terms in this office, he again went back to his beloved Mt. Vernon and passed the last days of his life.

In his last will and testament, he freed his slaves. In the light of later opinion that seemed a small gesture, but at the time slavery was universal. And Washington hoped that his example would be followed by other slave holders and that this institution would gradually disappear.

History justly accords Washington an exalted place among the great of earth. In his own country he is recorded as "First in War, First in Peace, and First in the Hearts of his Countrymen".

Unlike Lincoln, Washington was a man of great wealth, yet, in spite of this handicap in the cause which he espoused, he gave to it the unselfish devotion about which Lincoln spoke so eloquently in after years.

In the midst of our tragic days, we may profit by Washington's example.

THE GREATNESS OF AMERICA

BY RUTH TAYLOR

What makes America great? It is not the vastness of the country, nor the fruitfulness of its acres. It is not the hidden wealth of its natural resources, nor the size and variety of its manufacturing plants. It is not its deep harbors, nor its navigable rivers, nor the great arteries of its highways.

What makes America great is its latent power to turn all of those into production for the good of all the people from coast to coast.

The greatness of America depends upon you and me; upon each and every one of us, whether we live on a lonely farm or in the crowded city, whether we live on a tree shaded street in a quiet town, or under the shadow of the great sky scrapers of a bustling metropolis.

As Lyman Abbott once wrote: "A nation is made great, not by its fruitful acres, but by the men who cultivate them; not by its mines, but by the men who work in them; not by its railroads, but by the men who build and run them. America was a great land when Columbus discovered it; Americans have made of it a great nation."

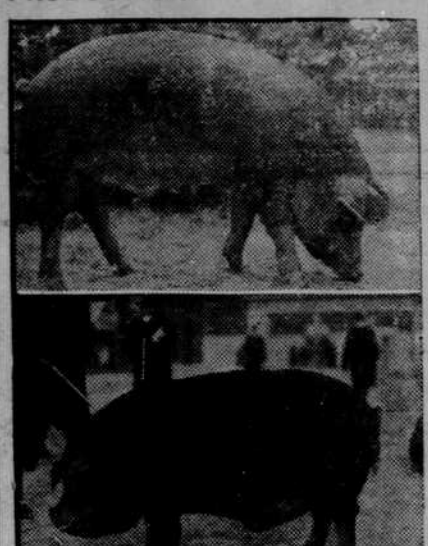

A country is not greater than its citizens. We are a UNITED STATES of America because the men of this country decided to put aside sectional and religious differences to work together for the good of the country as a whole. If we want to change our nation, we have the power to do so, by changing the minds of the men and women who comprise the country. If we want to be prosperous, we can, for new wealth can be built only by men. If we want security, we can build it. If we want to eradicate all evil systems and handicaps, we can—for we created them. America was made great by the men who built it. If it remains great, it will be the doing of you and of me and of all our fellow citizens.

WHAT TYPE FOR WAR PRODUCTION?

Pixpage—To Guide America's "red" hog producers toward more efficient production of "Pork for Defense," the United Duroc Record Association, largest of the swine records, staged a National Duroc Congress at Peoria, Illinois. The Congress featured a Market Barrow, Breeding type and Carcass Demonstration with the purpose of standardizing Duroc type (as shown in the picture) to war production needs. Large delegations from all hog-raising states of the nation attended this educational event.

OMAHA DEFENSE ACTIVITIES

Information on the planting and care of garden vegetables and fruits will be given Omaha gardeners in a series of Victory Garden talks at the Joslyn Memorial on Wednesday afternoon. The talks and discussions will be conducted by Mrs. Bessie Mae Grouseman, garden consultant. The gardeners will be addressed Wednesday afternoon, March 4, by E. H. Hoppert, Lincoln, Extension Director of the State Department of Agriculture. All of the meetings are open to the public.

Rationing of tires is regarded as a principal factor in the recently increased use of Omaha public transportation facilities, according to officials of the street railway company. J. P. Lee, vice president of the company, reports for January of this year a 26 percent increase of street car and bus traffic over January of 1941. Extra cars and busses have been put in service, and schedules stepped up to cope for the heavier traffic.

Mrs. Charles Wright is a member of the board of directors of the American Women's Voluntary Services, whose headquarters are at 638 Grand Exchange Building.

Thirty Red Cross knitting and sewing groups are being sponsored by the women's division of the Foster Community Center, it is announced by Miss Blanche Korman, director of activities.

Mrs. J. H. Wood reports that 90 women have graduated from the Motor Corps classes conducted by the American Women's Voluntary Services. Besides showing a proficiency in driving cars, trucks and motorcycles, these graduates have received detailed training in making necessary repairs to keep vehicles rolling. Members of the Motor Corps have been using their own cars in collecting material in the Salvage for Victory campaign. Proceeds of the salvage are being placed in a fund to be used to establish a mobile canteen service.

Instruction of a class of 50 Omaha women to prepare them for jobs as aircraft factory workers will be started soon, it is announced by W. C. Cumming, director of defense training for the public schools. The women were chosen for the class from the rolls of the United States Employment Service. Other classes may be started later, Mr. Cumming said.

New classes in map reading and photography will be started within the next two weeks by the American Women's Voluntary Services. Mrs. Herman F. Metz, chairman reports that the present classes in these subjects have nearly finished the course.

MODERN DESIGN MAKES THE DIFFERENCE

Pixpage—On land! In the Air! On the sea! Modern design makes the big difference as America moves ahead. Here's modern design—"on land" exemplified in the trim lines of the new Massey-Harris Model "81" tractor. Note the unusual expression on this farmer's face as he watches his Massey-Harris dealer clownishly demonstrate the "big difference" in modern

Antioch, Ill., Pixpage—King Besie Senator, 5 years old Holstein bull owned by Ravenslen Farms here was named All American Aged Holstein Bull by a committee of 16 of the leading dairy cattle judges of Canada and the United States. He is the only bull ever to be All American choice for every age class from calfhood to maturity, giving him the distinction of being the greatest Holstein bull of all times.

THE OLD AND NEW

Southbridge, Mass., Pixpage—To dramatize the remarkable progress made during the past fifty years in diagnosing and correcting defective eyesight, the American Optical Company has reconstructed an optician's shop of the Gay Nineties (top) and a modern professional office (bottom). In 1891 the optician was also the watchmaker and jeweler, and glasses were sold as a commodity over the counter on a trial and error basis. Today people obtain the professional services of ophthalmologists, optometrists and ophthalmic dispensers, who are trained to provide eye comfort and visual efficiency. In 1891 the optician was also the
