Some find they need only start on it three days before "the time" and take it as directed in order to relieve periodic pain due to functional causes. Others find that the proper use of CARDUI enables them to stimulate appetite and improve digestion (through the increased flow of digestive juices). So they are enabled to build up strength and energy and relieve periodic headaches, nervousness, cramp-like pain and other associated functional distress. It has been popular for 61 years.

Vocational Education was allotted the fund with which to provide the training courses. The Vocational department of the Omaha School Board of Education is giving its youth an opportunity to benefit by such training at the various centers established throughout the city. One of which is the Logan Fontenelle Social Center. More than fifty NYA girls attend the classes of homemaking which include nutrition, household skills and other training pertaining to home defense. less than 1,000 of that number. In the Lincoln Post office we have eleven colored employees, two mail carriers in the persons of Eugene Edwards who has an unusual high rating as an mail carrier. The Lincoln Journal one of Nebraska's leading papers contained an article last year which paid tribute to Edwards as being one of the best and most reliable postmen, out of the building. Mr. Edwards will be on the retirement list before many more years. Mr. Edward Craft is the other colored mail carrier. Craft is highly respected by all of his fellow workmen, like Mr. Edwards, he is holding up the standard and is well thought of by the officials. Mr. Roland W. Young is at present a watchman at the government building, but has passed the examination for a mail carrier and will be appointed as soon as his turn comes around. There are seven colored women who are also employed at the post office. Mr. Wm. Woods who is the oldest from standpoint of service and has a very high rating. Mrs. Loretta Swanigan who is next in years of service as a government maid. Then follows Mrs. Lily Lilly, Mrs. Edna Page, Mrs. Ruby Shakespeare, Mrs. Francis Robinson, making a total of 20 colored persons employed at the postoffice. This will be continued next week.

The Northside Nazarene Church was favored Tuesday night by having Elbert D. Tinsley and wife as their special guest. Dr. Tinsley and wife are the two greatest religious workers of our race group of today. Dr. Tinsley is a pulpit orator and stands uncompromisingly for the Bible doctrine of Holiness. He and his wife by their songs and his pulpit oratory captured his hearers. Our only regret was that they were not more of our race group out to hear him. He was engaged of course by a white church. Dr. Tinsley's father was the pastor of one of the largest Negro Methodist Churches in the United States for better than 20 years. His church was in Philadelphia, Pa. He was one of the greatest religious song writers of our race aside from Bishop C. P. Jones in America. Young Tinsley and wife are now engaged up until 1943.

Diamond was teaching a class in old fashioned games and dances. The class gave an exhibition for the group and then invited them all to take part in the Virginia Reel. Apt at rhythm our Long school students caught on quickly to the intricate steps and soon the auditorium was agog with happy children and enthusiastic University students in a Virginia Reel. It was too bad to break up this enthusiastic but time is an element in all school programs and it was fleeting and we had to move on. At twelve the buses returned. We loaded them to capacity, but left a happier and more enlightened group filled with knowledge of what our great city has to offer educationally and with a thanks in our hearts to the taxpayers of Omaha for into a reality the dream of Education for all.
