FRED WALKER, AGENT 984 N. 25th St. —PHONE ATLANTIC 1689—

Never in the history of the United States has the morale of any group been as low as that of the Negro today. So great is the problem, much time is being devoted to the study of causes and remedies by governmental agencies.

Throughout the nation, there seems to have developed during this war crisis a new type of discrimination against the Negro. Interraja flareups are common, taking place on public carriers like street cars and trains for the most part. They are caused by insulting remarks from one group directed to members of another group. Naturally, they are resented and in the followups, there are often outbursts of physical violence.

The activities of subversive agencies in the middle west, particularly in Detroit, where the despised KuKluxKlan seems to have obtained a new lease on life despite the efforts of the department of justice to eliminate the organization, are disturbing. The situation in the big industrial center is more tense, according to reports filed daily here in Washington.

Pro-axis activities discovered in this section have alarmed the nation, but those activities dated back to before the Sojourner Truth flare-up. Such activities are believed directly responsible for much of the trouble in this area, according to reliable reports.

Not easily discernible, these take the form of protests, strikes and work hindrances. Union activities are also involved in these demonstrations.

The general feeling is to keep Negroes out of skilled work and it is reliably reported that the Negroes in jobs in defense areas are sworn to secrecy. This is done, it is believed, to prevent the actual facts concerning work and employment from being made public. Negroes are told that their jobs are a part of national defense and as such, they should not tell the type of work they are doing, nor where they work. Advised that this is a war secret, Negroes therefore keep their mouth shut and no amount of investigation nor questioning will make them reveal the work they are doing.

Two cities in this same area, middle west, are faced with a shortage of Negro labor. They are Dayton, and Louisville, Pittsburgh, as well, has a similar problem. Observers see in this section a repetition of the mass labor migration that came with World War I.

This migration is bringing to these areas, problems that demand immediate attention. Involved are housing, health, education, morals, and morale.

Too much attention and stress has been directed and placed on the Fair Employment Practice Committee. In large areas, Negroes, it is reported, have been given "token employment" to keep down investigations and to prevent hearings on discriminatory practices.

However, the general wave of discriminatory practices sweeping the country has done nothing to lift the Negro morale, despite efforts on the part of some to say the picture is much brighter for the Negro.

life terms in prison. The three soldiers are Richard Phillips Adams, John Walter Bordenave and Lawrence Mitchell. They were charged with attacking a white woman at Camp Livingston May 9, but were not arrested until May 16. On June 22 they were indicted by a grand jury, and Judge Porter set the case for July 27. No bond was fixed in the case.

Since that time, fearing that the boys would not be given a fair trial,

Mrs. Blanche Holmes, mother of Pvt. John Bordenave, has pleaded with federal officers and officials of the federal government to investigate the case. She went into the case after her son wrote her July 23, declaring that he was innocent and had been arrested only after a statement from one of the others involved in the crime is said to have occurred he was on guard duty.

"I've been in jail 21 days," Bordenave wrote. "They put me in on the 25th day of May, this case happened on the 9th day of May and it was not reported until the 15th of May. When they put you in jail here they don't want you to say anything whether you are right or wrong. You know it is here, they make you say you did it if you did not, the camp officers did not come to see me or whether I was right or wrong," he declared.

He swore to his mother that he did not know anything about the case, stating that he always steered clear of "that kind of trouble." Explaining the dangers of relations between Negro soldiers and "these kind of women," he pointed out that "they have white girls out here selling themselves, you know there was a colored soldier shot here about the same case and there was nothing done about it."

A letter to Mrs. Roosevelt was responsible for an investigation which brought a few of the facts to light. The alleged attack is said to have taken place inside a barracks in the Negro section of the camp. Two of
