Martin Threatens to Pull East-West Baseball Game

BEHIND THE PLAY BY DON DELEIGHBUR

NEW YORK—The public wants to know: When are they going to play ball? The question is more serious than it appears in print. The Negro baseball club owners smoked big fat and black cigars all winter around their various headquarters throughout the country and selt their chance to make an effective beef about how they were going to transport their players and clubs about in 1943 to make league schedules. They came in the barn after the horse had been stolen—after the major leagues had gotten their side of the matter straightened out—and now the season officially opened as of May 16, the biggest news is a lot of wrangling and twisting between the Negro American League and the Negro National League over who stole who.

J. B. Martin, president of the American League in the West, is leveling his guns on Tom Wilson of the National loop in the East accusing member clubs of the re-boarding circuit of swiping a few guys from certain American League teams. Martin is hollering loudly about player Bell of the Memphis Red Sox (owned by his brother, B. B. Martin) and player Shields of the Chicago American Giants and the K. C. Monarchs appearing in the lineup of the Home-Steard Grays, Cum Posey's and Sonny Man Jackson's outfit. Also in line for a slap in the mug is the Philadelphia Stars club of the N. L. which is said by Martin to have yanked some players from the West.

All this yelping and hollering and beating of the breasts amounts to nothing insofar as the actual progress of Negro baseball is concerned. What the wrangling owners and dealers should be concerned with is the alarming inclination of big name players to quit the game altogether and get a good paying job in a defense factory or even join the army where they can at least eat three square meals a day and have a chance to advance in the ranks. A point few have mentioned of is the fact that few Negro ball players come out of the game with anything. More Negro stars are found hustling quarters, bartending, acting as bouncers in night clubs and dance halls, driving taxicabs, or still trying to play ball after they've reached the ripe young age of 50 than in any other sport.

To begin with, Negro ball players are in a poor paying racket. The owners get the big cars, round friends at a northside business house! Read the Omaha Guide. The Arkansas river overflowing. BASEBALL CHIEF

J. B. MARTIN

Kansas City, Mo., (PPS, Inc.) — Dr. J. B. Martin, President of the National American League Baseball club, "sounded the gavel" for the opening game Sunday, May 16, between the crack Chicago American Giants and the Kansas City Monarchs. Leroy Patton pitched the big opener against the famous Satchel Paige. Dr. Martin, in a statement to reporters said that the Office of Defense Transportation had named the various Negro Ball Clubs their usual traveling busses; however, he is urging base ball fans and the general public throughout the country to write a letter to ODT, in Washington, D. C., protesting this ban on transportation. Dr. Martin left Kansas City late Sunday night for his Association Offices at 412 E. 47th St., Chicago, to resume the fight. Other league games opening last Sunday were Cleveland Buckeyes vs Memphis Red Sox, at Memphis; Birmingham Black Barons vs Cincinnati Clowns.

ern, and most progressive Private Business School this Community has ever boasted. Prof. Roach wishes to tell his friends and others that it is not true that back behind the scenes of this educational institution are the brains and money of persons other than the Colored Race. The Study Hall and the Department of Adult Education will be formally dedicated Sunday Afternoon, May 16, 1943, at 4 o'clock in the Civil Service Training Auditorium of the school, 139 West 125th street, New York, N. Hollywood in Bronze

by RUBY BERKLEY GOODWIN

BOBBY BROOKS The story of Bobby Brooks is one of those success stories that makes Hollywood an easy place to write about. Two year ago Bobby was sent by Edward Bailey, president of the Musicians Union out to Warner Brothers to do a bit in Bette Davis' picture "The Great Lie". The director wanted children with fairly good voices. So outstanding was Bobby's voice during rehearsals that he was given a featured spot in the picture and sang the lead in the theme song of the show "Slumber, My Darling."

Today Bobby is at Universal studios under long term contract. His voice is creating a sensation out at the Universal City lot. But mothers before you grab Little Johnnie or Willie by the hand and do a wild dash for Hollywood, I'd have you consider for a moment longer, not Bobby's latest success but his years of work, Bobby, who has been singing almost ever since he could walk has been before the public almost that long. For years he has been child soloist at various churches in Los Angeles.

In 1940 he appeared at Treasure Island as guest soloist with Alma Hightower and her Melodic Dots. He won instant favor with the World Fair audiences. In 1941 he appeared at Soldiers Field in Chicago as guest artist for the 2nd Annual Spiritual Song Festival. Since that time he has been singing with a Youth Group under the direction of Ben Carter. Bobby, who is now fifteen, lives with his mother, Mrs. Jane Brooks, who is a cosmetologist and a licensed real estate broker. His sister Janice is a student at L. A. City College where she is majoring in public health nursing. Janice is also a fine pianist and sometimes acts as accompanist for her brother.

THIS IS MY WORLD

Hattie McDaniel, who leaves the coast next week on a bond selling tour for the Treasury Department had this to say about sponsoring Deaderick Jenkins' sensational novel "This Is—It Was Not My World". "In the first place," Hattie states, "I never met the young man nor did I contribute anything toward publishing of the book. Since the book has been published I saw a copy of it but since I have not read it I would certainly not endorse anything I had not read. I do not agree with the author when she states: "It Was Not My World". This is our world, I am doing all I can—not blind to many of its prevailing faults but I realize it's up to us to work together for a better world. I am doing all I can along this line. That's why I am always ready to go on a bond selling tour or to do a camp show." Hattie, Ernest Reserves Report for Active Duty! The time has come to call back into service our reserves of desk telephones—1-A telephones whose places have been taken in recent years by hand telephones. It's like this: Manufacture of telephones for civilian use was stopped after Pearl Harbor to save vital materials for war use. Greatly increased demands for telephones have used up the supply of hand telephones—but we have limited reserves of desk and wall telephones, saved for emergency use. So if you need a telephone installed—and are in a location where lines and central office equipment are available—we may have to furnish you a desk or wall telephone instead of a hand telephone. Also, if a hand telephone should become unusable, we may have to replace it with another type of telephone. The reserves are coming back into action. NORTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY Buy U. S.
