I'VE BEEN AROUND New York By TED YATES

Related through the facilities of the INDEPENDENT PRESS SERVICE exclusively by Ted Yates Publications throughout the United States.

The Column That's Harlem . . . Strictly an entertainment bill that possesses plenty of sock appeal, a new triple-threat attraction that will prove itself to be a sensation at the box office is the one offered by Gale Agency that headlines blues singer Lil Green, the Decca recording artist. Ably supported by the famed Deep River Boys, who got their start six years ago when they first sang together in the Hampton Glee Club at Hampton Institute, Va., and Luis Russell's augmented orchestra, this revue is hot from Harlem and has as its theme rhythm and harmony. Billed as the "3-Star Unit," it will draw raves from both press and public.

I suppose there'll be some who will say that I'm leaving myself open for an "unconditional surrender." If I am going to get into a helluva mess it's okay because believe you me I can take it. However, reconciling one's self to a matter of fact—that this is a democracy—it's 'shoot the works,' so here goes.

Recently Assemblyman William T. Andrews, 21st A.D., let it be known that he was a candidate for Congress; moreover, that he is going to run AGAINST Rev. Adam C. Powell, Jr. And, as the saying goes, that's where we come in.

While the very definition of the word politics means artful, crafty, cunning, prudent, sagacious, wary, wily wise and so on—the term politics also stands for: diplomatic, discreet and judicious (among other things).

In dealing with politics(s), as a group let us stress unity. We can, if we will, do our laundry in private, then, when it's hung on the clothesline—to borrow a paraphrase—it won't be dirty wash.

There's no need for mud-slinging at a time like this, when most of all what we really need is GOOD REPRESENTATION IN WASHINGTON.

That Andrews is possessive of superior legislative experience cannot be denied. But no one will go on record as having said that Powell is not worthy of the people's vote of confidence.

Were both Powell and Andrews to oppose each other for a seat in the House of Representatives, I am of the opinion that neither would win out. Any white candidate would easily be elected since the Negro vote in that case will find itself split wide open. As for the honor of being the first Negro Congressman elected from New York, that matters not a damn. We want a Negro Congressman from N. Y., and a good Congressman. What's more, it's OUR DUTY to elect one.

An affair that should well get public support is the "Victory Ball for Riverdale" to be held Friday evening, April 28th, at the Golden Gate Ballroom here. Duke Ellington's Orchestra and Lucky Millinder's great band will entertain. A pre-dance cocktail party was held last Thursday evening at the Hotel Theresa in honor of Mrs. Louise Morris, chairman of the committee and the fifty odd clubs representing the five boroughs that are taking an active part in this event for the Colored Orphan Asylum of Riverdale, N. Y. . . . A galaxy of stars that will include Hazel Scott are slated to provide additional entertainment. . . . Incidentally, Miss Scott made herself the adored of, and Brooklynly when she gave a very liberal donation to the Greater Bridge Street AME Church. The talented boogie wogie pianist, star of radio, stage and screen—a fixed star in Cafe Society—is forever making contributions to churches and worthy charities. Little does the public know of this grand trait. Miss Scott's simply because she has not done this sort of thing in hope that it would gain for her means of publicity. In her own words: "Our people have a hard time trying to make it and all of us who are enjoying a measure of success should pitch in and do our part." Indeed a grand attitude for a swell gal to take, I'll say.

Young Pat Flowers, the sepiantist, was heard on Paul Whiteman's Hall of Fame program via the Blue Network on Easter Sunday. This up and coming star who has been a sensation in Detroit and Chicago, is by far the greatest 'new find' of the keyboard. Although Flowers has been East before, his career was temporary because like the smart lad he is—completion of his mastery of the piano came first. Extending a handshake to such an illustrious entertainer as Pat, I'm hoping to hear and see more of his accomplishments.

Eddie Durham's All-Girl Band with Lips Hackett on the drums is set for a trek to California and Canada after that Apollo Theatre date commencing April 25. . . . Jo! La Joy has that something. She evokes glamour and charm—possessing pub-lenty oomph—she's the supernatural attraction nightly at the Elks Rendezvous in a smart revue-led attraction by our own Ralph Cooper, the town's top em-cee. Diversion seekers have included this JOY spot in their quest for star-studded septa entertainment.

EGGS—EGGS, AND MORE EGGS. . . .

The egg hatchery would be a befitting title for this article, when the USO Staff made known its wishes that they wanted each Service man and his guest to have an Easter egg. The Community came forward as usual with flying colors to do their part. By contributing eggs.

There were over 1,000, eggs cooked and dyed by the GSO girls, Servicemen, and the USO Mascots here at the USO. The Easter spirit prevailed throughout even to the real live white pink-eyed Bunny who made his appearance out of nowhere and is still the guest of the USO. The North 24th Street USO Club wishes to take this method of thanking the following groups, Clubs, and individuals, who helped to make the Service men feel at home on Easter. The Federated Club of Nebraska for eggs Long School Kindergarten for hand made bunny baskets, candy, peanuts, and dyed eggs, Lake School, sixth grade for basket of dyed eggs, candy and nuts. The Up-to-Date Club of the YWCA, dyed eggs. The GOS, Girls and to all the individuals.

The Eureka Club for cake, Mrs. Catron for sandwiches and coffee. Mrs. Mildred Collins for carton of cigarettes. We sincerely thank you.

The following trips are to Kearney, Nebraska, Tuesday April 18th, bus leaves the North 24th St. USO Club, 12:30 noon. Reservations must be in by Monday night April 17. Fort Crook, Wednesday, April 19.

EASTER PARADE BY USO

The board walk of New Jersey had nothing on the Easter parade here given by the GSO girls of the North 24th Street USO Club, at the Dreamland Hall Easter Sunday at 3 p.m. From the wee two year old tots displaying their Easter outfits to the glamorous young ladies in their three piece suits, dress makers suits, afternoon dresses, evening dresses, toppers and sport attire, strolled down the aisle among cheers and applause to the tune of Easter Parade furnished by the USO Swingsters. Both sailors and soldiers aided their bit by styling what the well dressed servicemen are wearing. We want to thank Mrs. Helen Owen, chairman and Mrs. Charlotte Crawford, who assisted.

All New York's talking about the big to-do at the Astor Theatre!

Everyone was there—including 250 G.I. Joes, 42 Veteran Heroes, 20 Generals, Colonels, Majors and their Wives, and 20 Critics!

All were at full attention while MGM presented "SEE HERE, PRIVATE HARGROVE", the hilarious picturization of the best-seller adventure of life and love in and around an Army Camp.

Robert Walker is 'Private Hargrove', Donna Reed is 'Carol', the beauty in his G.I. life. Keenan Wynn, Robert Benchley, Ray Collins and Chill Wills, round out the cast.

The story is a brilliant flash of what goes on when a fellow goes to Camp. No punches are pulled—as 'Private Hargrove' gets introduced to rules and regulations—and receives a special introduction to the girl!

Some of the medals which New York critics joyfully pinned on this MGM film follow: "One of the funniest pictures to come out of Hollywood in years. . . ." —N. Y. Mirror

"See here, general public, 'Private Hargrove' is a major objective on the Broadway film front!" —N. Y. Journal-American

It's really good!

Public Ownership Defeated Again
Madison, Wisconsin, Citizens Turn Down Political Control of Their Electric Service BY A VOTE OF 2 to 1!
By an overwhelming vote of 2 to 1, the citizens of Madison, Wisconsin, rejected municipal ownership of their electric system. When they voted April 4th, the citizens of Madison refused to place their electric service under political control and management. They voted to keep the experienced business management that has given Madison low rates and good service for many years.
In summarizing the results of the election, the daily newspaper, the Madison State Journal, said:
"A close vote on the referendum to purchase the Madison Gas and Electric Company might have left room for speculation, if not for argument. Its rejection, two to one, and by every ward in the city, offers opportunity for neither. By the largest vote ever cast at a spring election, the citizens of Madison have said in effect: 'We are well satisfied with what we have. Our rates are low. Our service is excellent. The management of the utility is public-spirited and honest. Why change for the sake of the politicians and the fee-seeking promoters?'"
