

JAP HUNT ON SAIPAN WITH A PLATOON OF THE 24TH INFANTRY REGIMENT

SAIPAN, THE MARIANAS—Official records list this B-29 base in the Western Pacific as having been "freed from organized enemy resistance" on July 9, 1944, after bitter fighting. Since then over 12,000 Jap troops have been killed on the island and 1,100 more have surrendered. The main part of the mopping-up has fallen in recent months to the men of the 24th Infantry Regiment—veterans of Guadalcanal, New Georgia and Bougainville with more than 35 months overseas duty. Although some of the Jap-occupied territories lies not more than a mile from our own installations, the fighting is similar in almost every respect to combat in forward areas. Photos, left to right: The patrol finds another Jap meeting place in the hills and burns it up; they keep finding more houses just used by the enemy and set them afire; a GI with a field phone (right) keeps the patrol in touch with the CP; and these two GIs of a Jap-hunting patrol find a chicken coop with 15 eggs. Dr. Ennis of Los Angeles Says "Omaha Stagnant"

FORMER CENTRAL HIGH ATHLETE ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Dr. Charles Ennis, who now resides in Los Angeles California, but who was reared and educated in Omaha and who at one time was one of the stars of Central High School's football team, paid a visit to his many friends at Central High school and spent sometime with the faculty there, who felt so proud of his success as one of their products, that they extended him an invitation to address the Central High School students in the auditorium of the school.

Dr. Ennis again stormed the line as in years before, and showed the kind of stuff which it took to make him a success in life after finishing a high school education. Dr. Ennis after finishing Central High school, took two years of Deontology at the Creighton University and when he discovered he was not going to get an opportunity to have a full chance to finish his course at Creighton as any other American citizen, for his last two years he studied at the Southern University of Missouri and completed his course. He is now and has been for sometime, one of the leading practicing dentists in the city of Los Angeles.

Dr. Ennis said Omaha is still in a stagnant condition. It does not seem to progress with the times and other leading cities do. He extended an invitation to the civic minded citizens of Omaha to take a peep at Los Angeles and get a lesson which will pull them out of their stagnancy.

Dr. Ennis was accompanied by Dr. Theodore Lowrey, another former football star of Columbia, Missouri, now a practicing dentist in Kansas City, Mo. They arrived in Omaha at 9:05 by airplane. They came especially to study a new technique of dentistry achievement of Dr. Craig Morris.

While in the vicinity, Dr. Ennis paid a visit to his mother in Clarinda, Iowa for a few days. Dr. Theodore Lowrey who showed his brilliance on the football team of Columbia, Mo., High school and believe it or not it took brilliancy to show he was in the Star of Missouri. He created an interest in a spectator who made up his mind that there was a young man who needed an opportunity to expand and finish his education in his chosen profession. At this spectator's expense when this young man finished high school, he brought him to Omaha and entered him in Creighton University to study dentistry, feeling that he had placed him in a university that would accord him full opportunity to finish his education. After two years of study at Creighton, Mr. Lowrey found out even though Nebraska was one of the States which started unity, cooperation and the accomplishing of a definite purpose in all undertakings. That with the many adjustments to be made in the future, it will be necessary for the women to assist in every way possible. There will be an important job for them to do and it must be done well because the happiness of all is at stake. Many attempts will be made to close doors to the returned service man but through organized efforts this catastrophe can be prevented. Mrs. DeMent left Friday morning for Denver, Colorado, and while in the city, she was the house guest of Mrs. Sara Walker, past president of the Nebraska Federation

Boston Printers Discontinue Objectionable Postcards

Washington, DC.—Tichnor Brothers, Inc., of Boston, Massachusetts printers of postcards showing local views has advised the NAACP that it will discontinue printing postcards entitled WHIPPING POST, Dover, Delaware. The objectionable card printed in color, shows a Negro being lashed at the whipping post while a number of men and teenage white boys look on.

In a letter requesting discontinuance, Leslie Perry of the Washington Bureau NAACP said, "I think you will agree that whipping as a means of punishment is shocking to the present generation of Americans who deeply resent the infliction of cruel and unusual punishment. In these circumstances it is understandable that the use of a Negro whipper in this picture is doubly revolting to the Negro servicemen and women fighting and dying for democracy."

After explanation of the company policy of filling orders for local scenes furnished by the customer, Arthur Tichnor, president of the firm replied, "We certainly are in hearty agreement with you regarding the particular subject you mention showing the whipping post, Dover, Delaware. This is to advise that as far as we are concerned, we will not reproduce this subject again and will advise our customers in Dover, accordingly."
