An adult perspires 28 ounces every boys and give politics a rest during hot weather.

The Nebraska division of the League no doubt the event will bring many wheel men to that city.

A story is being told of a preacher in one of the towns in the north part of the state which will bear repeating. When looking over his congregation in the midst of the services he was horrified to see his own son in the gallery pelting his hearers in the pews below with peanuts. While the pious man was preparing a frown of reproof for the young hopeful, the boy cried out: "You tend to your preachin' dad, I'll keep 'em awake."

Quite a number of new applications have been made for membership in the Workman lodge, and on account of the prosperity enjoyed by No. 61 it would not be surprising to see a membership of 500 by 1895.

There will be a meeting of the Degree

Commissioner Samuel Young promptly offers to "set 'em up" directly one refers to his recent three shell game. Sam kicked and the other fellow had to re-evidently ahead of the game. Besides having valuable experience.

August Plasmeyer says that he beat the shell game, but that they stole $120 from him. He squealed and Sheriff Banks recovered his money. Also $20 for S. R. Seamands and various sums for several other of our brightest citizens who thought they could beat a sure game.

Senator Allen addressed a full house at Indianola, Monday afternoon, principally dwelling on the question of finance and presenting the free silver argument $7 in a short time, Wednesday afternoon.

There was an unusually large gathering of happy folks that met at the home were served to about one hundred or enjoyed the occasion.

You never so fully realize the need of the affable fool-killer until the shell fakir comes around with a circus, and smart alecks galore commence bucking his skin game and losing their money by hat fills. Then it is that we see the wretch-edly overworked condition of that indispensable factotum and feel like swearing in deputy fool-killers by brigades.

Children's day was very appropriately and charmingly observed by the Methodist Sunday school, Sunday evening last.
The exercises took on the prevailing Columbian spirit and form and expression.
"Old Glory" proudly waved from a score or more places in the church, in fact the flag that makes us free, together with the national colors in banners and cross, made up the sum total of patriotic adornment of the sacred edifice's interior.
Miss Hannah Stangeland was the fair Columbia of the occasion. The music and declamation were not only befitting, but were interesting and enjoyable. It was withal happy in conception and in execution.

It is not unlikely that the showmen were plucked in the settlement which Messrs. Banks, Troxel and Starr will

The Nebraska delegation to the Christian Endeavor convention at Montreal fast train over the Burlington, which has delegates will attend the convention from this state.

There is some hope for Missouri yet.
The supreme court of that state has just decided that the law authorizing the sale of persons for vagrancy is unconstitutional.
The law has been in force for a number of years, but its provisions only reached as far as the colored man.

THE TRIBUNE understands that its esteemed friend Stephen Bolles was the only man who lost money bucking the shell game who did not "squeal." We are informed that Steve dropped about $50 like a little man and then drove home; while the other fellows who had tried to beat a gambler at his own game and failed, of course, invoked the law to recover their money.

George E. Johnston, S. P. Hart and C.
T. Brewer left on last Friday afternoon for Kansas City with 21 carload of fat cattle. Mr. Hart had 14 cars, Mr. Brewer 7 cars. At Kansas City Brewer sold his cattle, and he and Johnston bought Hart's cattle, going on to Chicago with 105 head. They got the top of the market at Kansas City, which was a trifle under five cents, and not a profitable figure.

O, for a breeze from the polar seas, where the white bear rears her young and plaintive low of the Eskimo to the heartless air is flung; where the seagull soars and the night wind roars and the iceberg sports about, and the explorers brave find a cold wet grave when their stock of grub plays out. This summer heat knocks me out complete, and I will like a frosted pear—it would seem so nice to be packed in ice and slumber forever there.

Governor Francis of Missouri recently said: "Each year the local paper gives from $500 to $5,000 in free lines, to the community in which it is located. The local paper, in proportion to its means, does more for its town than any ten men and in all fairness it ought to be supported—not because you like it, or admire its writings, but because the local paper is the best investment a community can make. Today the home paper does 'the most for the least money of any agency on earth."

The following is a synopsis of a new school law approved April 28th. It will go into effect August first. It provides that children living more than a mile and a half from the school house in their district and residing "a half mile or nearer to another school house, may attend school at nearest school house, and that the district in which such children reside shall pay to the district in which they attend school the share of the apportionment to which they are entitled." It also provides that the teacher shall keep "a record of the above pupils."

The line of a woman's face are the tracings of her life history. Temper, emotions, principles are plainly written there. A woman who exists like an oyster can keep her face unlined. The woman who lives must expect to show the march of years. Too many women play with their emotions; they cater to nervous excitement. Then reality fails to furnish the necessary portion, fiction, sensational reports of disasters—commercial, social, accidental—become the basis of supply. To thrill becomes as necessary as to breathe, and every emotion leaves its tell tale mark and becomes the enemy that deprives life of its power.

Sells & Rentfrow gave two exhibitions in our city on Wednesday. The morning performance to a crowded tent, but to a light audience in the evening, owing no doubt in a large measure to the apprehension felt by many that trouble would occur. It is due Sells & Rentfrow to state that they gave an excellent circus performance. It is also due them and the public to state that they carry with them about the toughest gang of thieves and sharpers and thugs that has ever visited this city. Ample preparations were made for their entertainment here, however, and they were reasonably civil.
During the day the shell game man had bilked some dozen or more citizens in the total sum of about $450. This money was recovered by the authorities before the show was allowed to leave the city.

Jones-Bullard.

At high noon Tuesday the little burg of Palisade up in the fertile and pretty Frenchman valley was the scene of a notable and charming marriage, the union of Mr. Edward M. Jones of the Omaha conservatory of music and Miss Josephine, the accomplished and amiable daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bullard of that place.

The cosy new residence of the bride's parents was prettily decorated with flowers for the occasion, while the bride carried a beautiful and elaborate bouquet of rare flowers.

The bride was elegantly arrayed in a white India silk empire gown, trimmed with white and emerald India silk and white ribbon, white gloves and slippers.
The groom was dressed in a conventional black Prince Albert.

Rev. D. L. McBride, performed the ceremony in brief but impressive phrase, —the same being witnessed by a small company of relatives and friends. Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. U. J.
Warren, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hackman, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Reizenstein, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Kimmell, Miss Sara Lowman, Miss Rose Lee, Miss Mary Walters; Mr. E. E. Lowman, Mr. E. W. Clarke, and Mr. Burt Sutton of McCook, Mr.
Charles Jones of Chicago.

A wedding feast, elaborate in plan, exquisite in detail and tastefully served followed the ceremony.

The gifts were rich and handsome.

Prof. Reizenstein's orchestra of our city provided a choice program of music during the day.

The happy couple left on the evening train for their home in Omaha, and the best wishes of a host of admiring friends follow them.

THE COUNTY INSTITUTE.

TO THE TEACHERS AND SCHOOL OFFICERS OF RED WILLOW COUNTY:—

I hereby appoint a two weeks' session of Institute work for Red Willow county, to be held at the Indianola high school building, beginning with a lecture Monday evening, July 24th, and closing August 5th. By commencing the work of the Institute Monday evening, it enables all of you to get here Monday, locate at your boarding places, and be ready for work Tuesday morning at half past eight o'clock.

INSTRUCTORS.

Supt. J. J. Burke, of Fillmore county, and Mrs. E. F. Tucker, of Lincoln, who are well known to all of you who attend the Institute last year, will instruct in the Institute.

Examinations will be held for teachers' certificates, August 5th. Bring your certificates with you. All teachers who hold second grade certificates of good standing, who have done good work, will not be required to take the examination.
All teachers holding 3d grade certificates will be required to take the examination.

I will be at the school house, Monday, to assign teachers to boarding places.

In one of Dr. Price's articles in the Forum, where he speaks of some of the best schools he visited, in searching for the reason of their being superior he found that one of the important causes of their success was the well conducted teachers' meetings, they being held as often as once in two weeks.

For the country teacher the Institute takes the place of these meetings, and you cannot afford to be absent. You need to associate with your fellow workers.

J. H. BAYSTON, County Supt.

LELAND STANFORD, whose body will soon be placed in the magnificent mausoleum which he erected some years ago, in a sarcophagus of pure marble was a type of the American rich man. He was born poor, but with profound sense of the value and power of money.
Stories are told of his accumulative shrewdness when a mere child, but his plans and dreams of fortune seemed unsubstantial enough when at 28 years of age he contemplated the ashes of his law office and library at the little town of Port Washington, Wis. That was, as it has been to many men of his character, the "dark hour" which precedes the day. The catastrophe sent him to California, where he went to mining gold, and he continued to find gold one way or another to the end of his days. All he needed was the field, and then he had the indomitable courage the tireless energy, the iron nerve, the foresight (unintelligible to those who have it not) that belong to the husbandman who harvests gold.
He virtually built the Central Pacific railroad and accumulated millions from every enterprise he undertook. As he had made money in great sums so he spent it.
Finally he endowed a great school following his usual rule, "Never mind the expense." He provided for everything in connection with the school, just as he did for his stables and everything that was his even the tomb in which his son and himself were to be laid. His name will be preserved longest in that of the university to which youth will resort to be taught by the example of the sages of all time that the first ambition of the founder was among the least worthy of human incentives.
