STATE NEWS. It is carefully estimated that over 1,000 mechanics are busily engaged in the rebuilding of Hastings this summer. The actual figures show that they have put up nearly $350,000 worth of fine buildings during the spring and summer. Who thinks that the Queen City is not growing and growing rapidly?—Gazette-Journal.

WEDNESDAY NIGHT ABOUT 12 O'CLOCK, Village Marshal Patrick Miles was shot through the body by Jack Marley and dangerously wounded. Marley, Miles and some other parties had been drinking and making considerable noise during the early part of the evening, and as it was natural during such a carouse they went to the house near the Methodist church, kept by "Sullivan." Marley had at one time been "solid" with the young lady bearing the pugilistic name, but of late "Sul" has found another whom she prefers. This other party was in the house when Marley came. The latter began making breaks with his pistol. Whether he intended to shoot anyone or not is a disputed question. Some who were there give it as their opinion that he did. Anyhow Marshal Miles evidently thought the pistol playing had gone far enough, as he attempted to take it away from Marley. In the scuffle the pistol, a 45 cal., was discharged, the ball entering Miles' side two or three inches to the left of and below the navel, and coming out of the right hip. One of the bystanders had his pants cut and leg scratched by the bullet after it had passed through Miles' body. The wounded man says it was an accident. Others who saw it say it was an accident, so far, at least, as shooting Miles was concerned. Marley did not give himself up to the officers. Evidently he felt that he was not blameless, as he left town before morning and has not since been heard from. Miles lies at the post-hospital in a precarious condition. The doctors even cannot say whether he will live or die. Doctors Birney, Cotter and Ewen have charge of the case.—Sidney Telegraph.

CUSTER COUNTY HAS YET TO EXPERIENCE A disastrous drought. It is true that a good deal of complaint has been heard from different localities during the past month on account of a want of rain, but it has happened before, just as it always happens before, that whenever the crops had reached a point where they must have moisture or suffer, the rain came and the farmer laughs to-day at his fears of yesterday. Harvest is now over and a fair small grain crop has been secured and the abundant rains of the past week open out a prospect for corn that is very gratifying.—Broken Bow Statesman.

PERCY O. KIRK, left Curtis last Tuesday morning in company with a friend to work on the railroad at the front. He boarded the morning freight with such personal effects as would be needed while there employed. The train stopped at the second siding, some twenty-four miles west of this place. During the stop he left the train. A stop only of a few minutes was made. Kirk attempted to board the train again, but failed and missing his footing fell beneath the wheels. His left leg, from the knee down, was mangled badly. Two or three of the fingers on the right hand were crushed.—Curtis Courier.

A heavy rain and wind storm passed over Wallace, Neb., one of the new towns on the line about forty miles west of here last Friday afternoon between four and five o'clock. The storm came with such a force as to cause heavy damages to many in that immediate vicinity. H. L. Williams' store building was moved off the foundation, the roof at the school house was blown off. Howard Bros. lumber company, damage to lumber $75. A board was hurled against their office with such force as to break through, protruding as much as four feet into the room. The corn was damaged somewhat by the hail.—Curtis Courier.

HOFFMAN, the Missouri Pacific train wrecker, expiated his horrible and damnable crime on the gallows shortly after 10:28 Friday. He deserved the fate he met. Of all kinds of murderers, the bomb thrower or deliberate train-wrecker are the most damnable. Their victims may be numbered by the hundreds, and are the innocent and unsuspecting. It is a wise thing for Nebraska as a state that the man who threw a passenger train from the track last February near Dunbar so quickly received the punishment he so justly deserved. The execution of Hoffman will have a most salutary effect upon criminals of this stripe. Men fear the noose and gallows when "life in the prison cell" has but slight apparent terror for them. Let train-wrecking murderers hang.—Gazette.

A rather romantic story comes from Nebraska City. An intelligent and bright German girl, about twenty years of age, came to the above town some time ago in company with a number of German emigrants, well supplied with money, but after a while her funds gave out, and she was compelled to seek refuge in the home for the friendless of Lincoln, where she gave birth to a boy which shortly afterwards died. She confided her story to a lady from whom the account comes. The old, sad story of love and folly on one side and the devil on the other. Her father, she claims, is a wealthy government official in Germany, and of a highly respectable family. She met and loved a dashing officer of the army and fell a victim to folly. Her parents sent her from home and her lover sent her to this country to hide her shame, promising to follow and make her his wife. She has been waiting for six months, but in vain. She is still waiting, foolishly trusting, his excuse being that he cannot get the necessary permit to leave the country.

At last the northwestern cattle ranges have all the cattle they can carry, and herds amounting to 50,000 head that had started from Texas to Montana have turned back. With the ceasing of the Texas steer immigration Texas fever will also cease.

The democracy of Ohio, in convention assembled, resolved against the importation of contract labor. It is time the country had a rest from this contract labor chestnut. What workmen voters want to know is how the party stands on restriction that will restrict immigration.

Pittsburg misses its canopy of smoke this summer and, as a consequence, the thermometers have been breaking the record of that town in the past two or three weeks. The substitution of natural gas for coal has not been an unmixed blessing, it would seem.

King Kalakaua of the Hawaiian Islands, now wants United States marines to guard his palace. The king says he will not sign the new constitution unless compelled to do so by force. He did not fear personal violence, but it might come, and he is sure the end of the revolution has not been reached.

In calculating the chance of the truth of the report that Stanley is dead, it must be remembered that Livingstone was reported dead, and the report believed, years before that explorer passed from the land of the living. The slave traders have reason to discourage African exploration and would not hesitate to lie if that would hinder Stanley's journey by spreading reports of Stanley's death.

The success of De Lesseps' canal across the Isthmus of Suez is the chief argument used in France to induce subscriptions to Panama canal shares. And subscriptions are pouring at a rate that promises enough to complete the canal. The subscribers are mostly working people the wonderful common class of France, whose thrift paid the German war debt, and makes France the treasury of Europe.

A few nights ago, at a menagerie in Chicago, Henry Decaber, one of the attendants, went to sleep on top of a cage of lions. Turning in his sleep one leg dropped partly down by the side of the cage. The first thing he knew was that the beasts had dragged his leg through the upper bars of the cage and were clawing and biting the flesh. They pulled him off the roof, and he fell down on the floor fainting. He was terribly lacerated and nearly bled to death before assistance reached him.

A telegram from Clinton, Iowa states that four people were shot during the wild west performance of Sells Bros. circus Tuesday night. George Harrington, aged twelve, was shot in the forehead and will die; Mrs. W. A. Lambert, son was shot in the left breast just above the heart, dangerously wounded; Wallace Phillips, aged sixteen, was shot in the top of the head. He is not very seriously wounded. One of the Indians was shot; how badly he is hurt is not known. He was immediately taken away. No cause is given for using bullets, except that a cowboy got hold of the wrong revolver. It was done during the encounter of the cowboys and Indians in the ring.

One of Beauregard's old soldiers sent him a dollar and requested him to send a lottery ticket which would win a big prize. He added: "I was always at my post and never disobeyed orders. I came out of the war without clothes enough to wad a shot-gun." The General answered: "My dear old comrade, I send you a ticket that I hope will draw a prize, and beg leave to give you the following advice: If you stick to the Louisiana Lottery for four years as faithful as you did the Southern Confederacy, you will not have clothes enough to wad a pop-gun."

"Sunstroke and suicides are in season, remarks a Kansas editor," and in half the cases occurring the sources of the evil will be found to have been beer. Too much beer drinking in hot weather affects the stomach and brain. Undoubtedly, cool beer is a pleasant thing for the moment, with the thermometer registering 95 degrees in the shade, but undoubtedly a heated brain and disease of mind and body is liable to be the payment of the pleasures. This is not temperance, but physiological talk. The police statistics of all large cities furnish the ground upon which it is made.

The best gift a parent can give to his son is a good trade. The professions are overcrowded and thousands of young men are barely eking out a subsistence. While good, sober, intelligent mechanics are always in demand and command remunerative wages. The worst thing a parent can do for his boys is to rear them in idleness because he expects to leave them some money. In nine cases out of ten such sons either fill a criminal's, drunkard's or a pauper's grave. The bread of idleness is a fatal poison to the moral nature.
