COUNTY CORRESPONDENCE.

Wm. Fleming is up at Wallace doing some nice work in the carpentering business.

The director of school district No. 20 has called a special meeting for the purpose of locating a site for a school house.

Mr. Wheeler is erecting a new frame house on his claim in section 35, town 9, range 38.

The soldiers reunion at Carpio, Hayes county, Neb., was a success. They had their photograph taken. O. Rogers of the Cheyenne was their guest.

Deputy Sheriff Merriman was a caller in these parts and arrested one of our citizens for a very pleasant charge, but as nothing was proved against the person he was released by County Judge Swilling.

The bonds for bridges across the Platte rivers will be voted down in our precinct by a big majority as they should be. Our people don't believe in adding a debt on themselves from which they will derive no benefit.

Frank Haller lost about three tons of hay by high water, besides about six tons being badly damaged.

B. Wilber has finished laying, got done before the wet weather set in.

September 7th, 1887. No more trips to North Platte after coal; Howard Bros. have a car load of the finest kind of mountain coal which they are selling at $7.50 per ton.

Monks, Lemon and Hanna of North Platte were here the latter part of last week. Mr. L. was looking after some land business. Mr. H. seems favorably impressed and thinks some of locating here.

When they come, one train brought in eleven new settlers last week.

Messrs. Nation and Porter of this precinct attended the institute in North Platte last week. They report a pleasant time and good institute.

Mr. Vincent came down town Monday all smiles, a new baby girl having arrived at his house on Saturday, which was the cause thereof.

Mr. Bailor, a contractor and architect of Nebraska City has located here and as a voucher for his ability brings $700 worth of tools.

Mrs. Kitson started on a visit to her old home in Pennsylvania, last Wednesday.

The sod house of John Erskine's which was built up ready for the roof, was struck by lightning Saturday night, knocking one end in and splintering a few planks near by. This is the second sod house that has been struck lately. Lightning continues to play havoc in this way, people had better insure.

N. C. Myers has taken a homestead near the south line of the county, where he intends to move his store, and in addition with his mercantile business, start a horse ranch.

Mr. Vincent, living a few miles northwest of town, had a dog to go mad, a few days since, and bite several head of his stock. Already he has shot several head of cattle and the report is that he shot one of his mules yesterday. Two dogs were killed yesterday, supposed to be mad dogs. Owners of dogs should keep them tied as this is mad dog season.

The new seats for the school house have arrived. This was a much needed improvement and no doubt will be appreciated by the little folks. AGRICOLA, Wallace, Sept. 8th, 1887.

Among the special attractions of the Keith county fair will be the base ball tournament for the championship of western Nebraska and eastern Colorado. A championship medal and a cash prize of $100 will be awarded the successful contestant. One game will be played each day of the fair.—Ogallala News.

The brick and sand is being rapidly brought in for the Farmers and Merchants bank building, which will be rushed along to completion just as fast as the mechanics can get through the work. This will be one of the best and finest buildings in the south half of Keith county when completed. Conrad Walker, the celebrated brick-layer and contractor of North Platte, Nebraska, figured on this building and says it built according to plans and specifications, will be a fine building that has ever been erected in North Platte.—Grand Enterprise.

Probably the largest real estate loan ever made in the State was filed in the recorder's office at Beatrice Saturday. The amount was $125,000 for three years at six per cent interest, and was given by John W. Bookwalter, the noted manufacturer and democratic politician of Springfield, Ohio. The mortgage covered over 4,000 acres of Gage county land, also large tracts in Pawnee and Thayer counties and Washington county, Kansas. The land covered by the mortgage is valued at $400,000.

The eastern papers are talking of "the cyclone sufferers in Kansas and Nebraska." The cyclone sufferers in Nebraska are a small minority. People who travel the state over say they seldom see any suffering to amount to anything, and the visits of cyclones are like the visits of angels as to frequency. The railway sufferers of the effects are more deserving of sympathy.—Topics.

Judge Homer will leave the county at the close of this term of court with a better impression left on the minds of our citizens than ever before. His honest and fair manner of dealing with litigants and successful effort in dispatching business has a telling effect. His method of holding adjourned sessions to hear cases commenced by motion of the attorney, instead of letting run until the regular term is highly appreciated and is quite a saving to the county in expense. Several important cases as well as many minor ones have been tried during the session. The most important one was the murder case wherein Mrs. Overton was charged with killing her husband. His charge to the jury in this case was very clear and forcible and was highly complimented. As a jurist he is considered by many attorneys among the best in the state.—Broken Bow Republican.

Many very heavy rains have fallen in Cheyenne county the past summer, but the one of Saturday night made all others seem light. For hours the water fell in torrents. The Lodge Pole Creek was soon bank full. During Sunday the pressure became so heavy that the dams below Sidney began to give way. This let the immense volumes of water in the reservoirs loose, and the valley was soon covered. The dams below were unable to stand the increase and were swept away one after another. The Libby and Christ dams are the only ones left between Sidney and Julesburg. The fine Kruger dam above Colton, which it was thought would stand anything that might come along, went out as easily as those more slightly built. Beyond the dam destroyed the loss was not great. Some stock was drowned, and a few hay stacks were carried off.—Lodge Pole Express.

The foot of the B. & M. engine was heard within the corporate limits of Sterling yesterday afternoon, and was the occasion of great rejoicing among our people, who have long looked and waited for another eastern rail connection. A temporary bridge was constructed across the river, so as to allow the immediate crossing of trains with rails, ties, etc., and the track laying is going on at the rate of a mile and a half per day, although two miles per day has heretofore been the goal, but owing to the fact that the graders are but a little way ahead, some of the men employed in the track laying gang were discharged when the Platte river, opposite this city, was reached, and the force will be hereafter increased as necessity requires. The new road will be of incalculable benefit to Sterling and will undoubtedly cause the price of coal to tumble and, in fact, work a revolution in all commodities. The work between this city and Cheyenne will be pushed with the company's accustomed vigor, and the early winter will witness the entrance of this new line into Wyoming's capital. Just how soon passenger trains will make regular runs into this city is not known, but it will be at an early day.—Attoante.

MISCELLANEOUS ITEMS. The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can have arrested any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time unpaid, and then orders it discontinued, or orders the postmaster to mark it "refused" and to send a postal card notifying the publisher, lays himself liable to arrest and fine, the same as for theft, etc.

Mr. Moody is reported as saying that he was in favor of a whole holiday on Saturday at this season, and then there would be no excuse for Sunday excursion and Sunday newspapers. As to the influence of Sunday papers he is said to have said: "You can't pound a sermon into a man after he has got through reading one of those Sunday papers."

The governor of South Carolina is preparing to carry into effect a joint resolution of the so-called legislature of 1861, which awarded a gold medal, valued at $500, to Gen. N. O. Evans, of the confederate army, for conspicuous gallantry at the battle of Leesburgh, La. Leesburgh is the rebel name for the disastrous battle of Ball's Bluff, where the gallant Col. Baker was killed, with 229 of his men; 229 were wounded, and 445 taken prisoners, and Gen. Evans distinguished himself in the slaughter of Union men, so as to get that magnificent trophy—which a quarter of a century afterwards is to be presented to him with the most flattering expressions of approval. What a lesson for the rising generation of South Carolina. No wonder the Charles ton News and Courier feels impudent enough to order "the G. A. R. to behave or disband." South Carolina still labors under the idea that she is a "Confederate State."—St. Paul Photograph.

Old sores and ulcers, Scaldhead and ringworm, Pain in the back and spine, Swelling of the knee joints, Sprains and bruises, Neuralgia and toothache, Tender feet caused by bunions, corns and chilblains, we warrant Begg's Cherry Oil to relieve any and all of the above. Sold by A. F. Streit.

Just before he died Dr. Curry, the "Nestor of Methodism," turned to a friend who was sitting by his bedside and said: "I had a dream last night, and in the dream I saw a strange vision. It seemed to me that I had suddenly appeared before God and that as he looked at me sternly and asked: 'Well, what have you got to say for yourself?' and while I stood dumbfounded before the great Judge, knowing not what reply to make, Jesus Christ appeared and exclaimed: 'I am here to answer for Daniel Curry.'"

Ex-Senator Ferry of Michigan, who is now never heard of, was once the most important individual in the United States. He was president of the senate when the election of Mr. Tilden was disputed. The senate claimed the right of its presiding officer to determine which were the legal returns from a state. The eyes of the nation were on Ferry then. In 1882 he failed a business for $1,500,000. The next year he was defeated for the senate. Since that time he has fallen from notoriety, but he has worked hard and paid off over $1,300,000 of debts.

There is a class of citizens who are frequently heard to remark, and with an evident feeling of pride, that they do not take interest enough in politics to cast a ballot. With the reform of such men, and their conversion to a more wholesome sense of what they owe the community, all other reforms must begin. As long as it is fashionable and considered more respectable to shirk than to discharge political duties it is idle to look for any material improvement, either in the standards, the personnel or the quality of our local, state or national government.—Boston Globe.

There will be several devices in use next winter, on various railroads, for heating the cars, but quite generally the stove will be abandoned and the danger of hobo-cauts from this source removed. We noted a few days ago that the New York Central would have a new method of heating, and it is announced that the Pennsylvania railroad company will heat its cars by steam. After extended experiments the company reached entirely satisfactory results and will equip a number of its passenger trains with the steam heating appliances, which it is expected will answer the object fully. During the tests and interesting discovery was made which is said to have surprised experts. This was that it would only take a pressure of four or five pounds of steam from the locomotive to keep up uniform heat through a train of eight coaches. The argument against the use of steam for heating trains has always been that it would too greatly diminish the supply needed for the actual service of the locomotive in drawing the train. This has been disproved by the result of the tests, which have been complete enough to demonstrate that a locomotive can generate enough steam to draw a train and supply the coaches. The lamp, which was responsible for igniting the cars at Chatsworth, remains to be disposed of and must ultimately go.—Omaha Bee.

Slowly and surely the Mongolian is forging ahead. He laughs at each and every municipal or government enactment. The restriction act is as good a measure as he wants, and is absolutely not worth the paper it is written upon. Farce, in fact, of the very broadest type. We have a very strict law against Chinese gambling places, and yet they have 700 in full blast night and day in this city. Sales Gazette, San Francisco Letter.

Mrs. Polly Ford of Milford, near New Haven, will be 100 years on October 1. She has not been to Church since 1788, but is a member of the Congregational denomination. When in her eighty-third year she received her second sight, and can see better than many at fifty years of age. She sometimes has an idea that her daughter is her mother, but the illusion does not last long. Her health is comparatively good.

The tax digest in Georgia, submitted with the exception of fourteen counties, show an increase of $7,500,000 compared with last year. The remaining counties, with three railroads yet to be heard from, will swell the aggregate increase of wealth to something over $12,000,000 for the year. Fulton county, including Atlanta, which it was expected would be injured by prohibition, shows an increase in value of $1,447,000 over last year.

Begg's Cherry Cough Syrup Will relieve that cough almost instantly and make expectations easy. Acts simultaneously on the bowels, kidneys and liver, thereby relieving the lungs of their congestion and pain, also stopping that tickling sensation in the throat by removing the cause. One trial of it will convince any one that it has no equal on earth for coughs and colds. A. F. Streit has secured the sole of it and will guarantee every bottle to give satisfaction.
