The Fulton tract of land, consistoffice when the bidding commenced as a number of Nebraska City capitalists had formed a scheme to purchase the land and present it to the city for a public park. The valuation of the land was $200 per acre and it was agreed not to bid over the valuation. Another party who represented a syndicate who wanted the land for speculation, started to overbid the park syndicate and raised the price to $225 per acre. This was immediately raised by Wm. Fulton the original owner of the land to $258. F. W. Rottman, on behalf of a speculating syndicate, immediately ran the price up to $350. An adjournment was then taken for dinner and at 1:30° the sioner, who was superintending the sale, withdrew the land from the maiket, saving that it would be advertised again and then sold.

This afternoon Fred Tass and Lewis Dunn made application to lease the land, tendering the first official reports of the department of payment, $135.50. The board of public lands and buildings, now in session at Lincoln will act on this application immediately. Deputy Carter received instructions from Lincoln to do nothing further in the case at present.
