I intend to leave for Chicago the middle of this month for the purpose of selecting the balance of my spring stock. I will assure my friends and patrons a most beautiful and complete assortment in styles both beautiful and novel, such as you have never seen before, recommending my prices to be lower than the lowest. The stock will consist of fine tailor-made clothing, also medium and cheaper grades in all styles; a choice selection of Hats, Underwear, Hosiery, and Flannel Shirts, of which all designs will be exclusive, new and nobby. Don't buy until you see my line and convince yourself of facts. I will carry a larger stock than North Platte ever had before in one store. Don't be misled by red-letter signs, but wait and American flour is becoming a leading factor in European imports. Our people can make money by converting wheat into flour and save money by reducing the cost of transportation. The exportation of raw material is a business of small profits, only adapted to a country where land is plentiful and cheap and population thin. We are growing out of those conditions and must modify our business accordingly.
