The New York World, Henry George, and the Hon. Frank Hurd all propose to rub free trade into the raw sides of democracy. Hurd and George declar that the president is for free trade, and the World gives notice that "from time to time it will republish the presidents' special message" on free trade in wool.

Of the national political conventions held since the war Chicago has had four, Cincinnati three, and Philadelphia, St. Louis and New York one each. Previous to the war Baltimore was a great convention city, and the democratic convention which ratified the nomination of Horace Greeley at Cincinnati in 1872 was held at Baltimore. The first republican convention was held at Pittsburg.

A country editor in Missouri has been doing some thinking lately with the following unique result:

"An editor works 26514 days in a year society—the strongest man to get out 52 issues of a paper; that's richest, the most ind labor. Once in a while a subscriber pays time immemorial he a year in advance for his paper: that's of the world. capital; and cace in a while some son-of- down and a sea-cook of a dead-beat takes the paper for two or faree years, then skips out without paying for it, that's ansrchy; named animal-that's hell."

The language is not remarkable grace, but is vigorous and conveys excellent quality of truth.

Friend, this paper is not printed clusively for you; that's why you like all of it. You say: "There's article that's no good," and you don't r it, but the one in the next column plead you first rate. No other country on the face of the caught in his tr earth can boast of a climate to compare with western Nebraska and eastern Colorado. During the past winter only twenty days were cold enough to distinguish a difference from October weather in Wisconsin or Illinois. No storms occurred similar to what was experienced in eastern Nebraska and the eastern states. Other winters for the past twenty-two years were almost exactly similar to the one just passed. Plowing was successfully done, even to breaking prairie, for at least several days during every month of 1887, and wheat was sown in January of the present year. They soon extricated themselves with only a few bruises. In the mean time the horses dashed down the road at a fearful rate and after running about two miles, overtook a buggy occupied by L. Calkins, who being somewhat hard of hearing did not observe the approaching team, until it had crashed into the buggy. The collision was a terrific one, completely demolishing the buggy, and throwing Mr. Calkins some distance to the ground. He was carried to a farm house near by in a helple condition, and a doctor immediately sen for. It was found that he had suffered serious fracture of the shoulder blade besides a numer of minor cuts and bruises. Mr. Calkins is near 70 years of age, and

One Way of Looking at it. The shrewdest investors in Nebraska real estate are beginning to turn their attention to farm lands, which have been a good deal neglected during the past four years and are away behind in comparative value. It is a fact that no intelligent man will dispute that farm lands are now cheap-that they may be had below their actual worth, at less than their intrinsic value. The reason is plain. Our economic system, that compels our farmers to sell their products in the cheapest markets in the world and buy in the highest, has had the effect to depress the value of farm lands and farm work. That there will be a modification of this system to greater or less degree admits of no possi ble doubt. The least relaxation of the iron clad restriction upon agriculture will at once be followed by a rise in the value of agricultural lands. A complete emancipation of the farmer from the burden of the the tariff would make him-as he merry twinkle in his eye, "I've got some ought to be by virtue of his calling and knowing cate. St. Louis, Mo. Feb. 25 .- Martin Irons, leader of the Knights of Labor during the Missouri Pacific strike two years ago, who has been on trial here on the charge of tapping the telegraph wires feloniously during the strike, was acquitted to-day.

Worth, the French milliner, lives in the suburbs of Paris in a place that covers several acres and is gorgeously furnished. Once a year it is thrown open to his employes, and the fete lasts a day and a night. On this day each of the women employed by Worth is permttted to select a dress from his stock, and it is made up according to her directions.

A dispatch from Reading, Pa., says: "the impending strike of the brutherhood of locomotive engineers on the Chicago Burlington & Quincy mad is an event of considerable interest to the 300 engineers on the Reading railroad, who lost their positions during the recent trainment troubles. These engineers were Knights of Labor, and most of their positions were obtained by brotherhood men, whom they supplanted ten years before. They now nervous shock than from the actual propose to retaliate. In case of a strike wounds. His case is serious.-Broken on the Chicago & Quincy road theh propose offering themselves for the places of the striking brotherhood men." This is corroborative of a report which has been current in Chicago this evening.

A farmer in Madison county thinks he has found a sure preventive against the death of hogs by the so-called "cholera." He explains it thus: Between the front teeth and the grinders there is a space of two or three inches, and in this space under the gum of every diseased hog will be found a pocket of poisonous substance. To remove this, take a cold chisel and hammer and cut this bottle of poison out. He says that previous to adopting this device he had lost 73 hogs, but since adopting it he has not lost a single hog, and those of his neighbors who have tried the same operation report the same favorable results. As everything else has proved worthless, it certainly will not be very expensive to make the experiment. Said Mr. Bowditch, the druggist, with a
