Quick Work.

Pat Welch, of North Platte pulled into our city Sunday with his outfit for the purpose of moving the big county safe from the old court house into the treasurer's office in the new court house. He commenced operations Monday morning, and at 2 p. m. it was in proper position. The safe weighs 6400 pounds. We consider this quick work.—Gandy Pioneer.

Whitman.

The herd law and free range are the all absorbing topics of interest in Grant Co. There is joy and rejoicing at the home of J. M. Hogg, of Hogg Valley, on the late arrival of an average size female heifer.

There is a vague report here that Peter Moran was killed by a stallion in Custer county about the first of May. Parties knowing the details are respectfully requested to send the same to his relative, R. M. Moran, Whitman, Neb.

At Poker Lake the home of W. M. Proctor, a strange disease has broken out among the cattle and horses, the heads and necks of the animals being swollen out of shape. One colt has died and several of the cattle are in a dying condition. Among the items of this spring's industry at this place, there are 2,000 forest trees planted and competent judges report more than eighty per cent in a thriving condition. 200 apple trees and several of the smaller varieties of fruit trees are all in blossom.

G. B. Moran is a native of Fairmont West Virginia. His two claims are hay land and valuable, in sec. 13, T. 23, R. 36.

There is some little stamp and energy about the young gentlemen who in discussing the free range and herd law boldly said: "The laws of Nebraska are not to be ridden down, and trampled under foot by a set of straw-heeled would be buccaners. They are not so contractive or elastic as the silly glamour of shallow brained men proclaim them to be. They are broad and strong enough for the management of much more important affairs. I know some of my rights, and what I consider as such I dare to maintain them."

George Manning and lady of Chicago are visiting at the South Side ranch, the home of their son Sidney. The above named parties were in affluent circumstances in early married life, their wedding tour extending from the city of Paris to Honolulu, and for years they paced the decks of their own ships on the bright waters of the northern lakes. For the last few years he has been an active operator on the Board of Trade in Chicago. He is well pleased with the location of his son's home, and is contemplating the building of stock yards on the line of the B. & M. railroad. His friends are convinced that his remaining amongst them would give new life to the region. Q.

WALLACE.

D. Jackson & Co. are getting the lumber on their elevator site and work will commence at once and be pushed forward until the structure is completed. One by one needed improvements are added to Wallace and step by step our little city is coming up to the standard of a first class town.

The Hon. W. T. Wilcox, of North Platte, to the eminent satisfaction of our citizens, has accepted an invitation to deliver the oration here on the Fourth. Mr. Wilcox is admired by our people as an eloquent, earnest speaker, and the fact that he was their first and unanimous choice from a large list of available speakers is a flattering testimony of his popularity.

According to announcement a Union Sabbath school was organized at Richman hall Sunday afternoon. A large number attended and the new organization started out under very favorable auspices. The officers of the society are: C. H. Jacobson, superintendent; J. C. Huston, assistant superintendent; J. W. Nation, secretary; Mrs. Hoffmeister, treasurer. The teachers are Chas. Reynolds, Mrs. J. W. Nation, Mrs. Hoffmeister, and Mrs. McGregor. John W. Way has charge of the Bible class.

The Last of the "Cow Punchers."

About seventy-five cow boys were in town Monday. It was the Bay State, in charge of Col. Perry Brazel, the LF and the 70 outfits and they were making what will probably be the last general round up through this section of the country. We noticed several old timers in the outfits and that the best of order prevailed. As the cavalcade rode slowly out of town there were not a few among the watching spectators who regretted that the cow boy had gone never to return to this region again.

The Bay State company is using every endeavor to get the cattle out of the country. Three herds will be sent to Montana and two to northern Wyoming.—Sidney Telegraph.

Ninety-five Miles An Hour.

An application has been filed by a New York civil engineer for a patent for a locomotive and tender designed for making faster time than has ever been made in this or any country. The boiler is rectangular in shape, having a large and permanent area of evaporating surface, supported by a great extent of heating surface, the pressure to be carried being 210 pounds per inch, which is one third of its bursting pressure at its weakest points. The cylinders are in the rear of instead of between the truck wheels, and the fire-box is supported between the center of gravity of driving wheels. All the combination of parts are in exact harmony, and it is intended to easily make the time of sixty miles an hour with ten coaches, and can without violent strain be brought to ninety-five miles per hour with the same load. This gain in performance over the present machine is obtained by a mathematical construction with reference to the distance between rail centers upon which it is supported, and is the first application made which has embraced and specified every portion of a locomotive and tender constructed mathematically with reference to the limits within which they must be confined and supported. As a result of exact proportion with reference to such base, the cost of maintenance will be greatly below the general average of present constructions.—[Washington Letter to Philadelphia Ledger.]

Blaine Could Not Accept.

We can certainly see no reason why this utterance (Blaine interview in New York Press) shall not be accepted as final by the Republicans of the Nation, even those who are most loyal to Mr. Blaine, and most desire his candidacy this year. There is no possible pretext for continuing to agitate his nomination, after so explicit a withdrawal by himself. He does not want the nomination, for reasons which he does not choose to give, because they are personal to himself. Conjecture as to their nature is impertinent, especially as he also admits that his health is not good, and implied that he does not feel able to stand the strain of a heated campaign.

It may be, as Mr. Stephen B. Elkins says, that Mr. Blaine might reluctantly accept if the nomination were offered him with principal unanimity by the convention; but it is obvious to any man who has closely followed the current of events that such unanimity is impossible. Mr. Mr. Blaine wrote his Florence letter before the selection of delegates had begun. State after state instructed for a "favorite son," and there can be no hope of even a majority for Mr. Blaine until repeated ballottings have disposed of the candidates to whom their States are formally pledged.

And we believe, should Mr. Blaine's friends persist in pushing him as a candidate, that a nomination which would come as the result of a protracted struggle would be declined by him, and very wisely. He can not afford to go into a campaign with the thick and thin friends of other candidates ready to knife him for accepting a nomination which he has repeatedly declined, and feeling that his renewed candidacy had defeated their own hopes.

We are thus forced to the conviction that Mr. Blaine's withdrawal is final, and that his supporters, who have stood by him with such splendid loyalty, must regretfully abandon the hope of again going into battle under his leadership. One thing remains in their power, however, beyond all doubt; and that is to name the candidate. Their strength in the convention, as at present acknowledged, shows that they hold the balance of power. Let them consider carefully and give to the country a candidate who can not only command the support of every Blaine man, but of every other Republican in the nation, if they desire to render victory certain.—Toledo Blade.

FAXTON NEWS.

Mrs. E. C. Rice and Mrs. J. C. Palmer visited North Platte last Friday.

Fred Miller on the north side has had his corn planted some time and it is now large enough to cultivate.

Our friend W. T. Brown has been working at his trade, plastering, at North Platte this spring and boarding with Mrs. Brown.

Some fine blooded running horses passed through town last Friday. The owners were looking for "suckers" but they failed to find any here.

Mrs. St. John has been afflicted with something similar to blood poison in one of her hands for several months past. It is reported better at this writing and it is hoped she will soon be entirely well.

Last Thursday morning a box car containing bullion broke down near this place, necessitating leaving it on the side-track. Some coal hustlers made a sneak on the car but when they found it was filled with gold instead of coal they left it in disgust.

The U. P. Railway Company has started their painters at work painting the company's buildings, tank, windmill tower, etc., the past week which adds very much to the appearance of the property.

Oregon and Washington Territory have been having a boom for the past year but we see some returning from there. We think Nebraska better for the average farmer than either place and that it is much healthier than there.

The freight agent at North Platte informs us that there are no empty freight cars going west but that the Union Pacific's rolling stock is taxed to its utmost capacity to carry the freight west. We notice also that the passenger coaches are filled with passengers westward bound.

Capt. L. K. Hutton found a nugget of gold in the gravel near the foot hills last week. The nugget seems to be almost solid. Its weight in its crude condition as found is nearly as much as a twenty dollar gold piece. It has been known for years that there was traces of gold in the sand in the hills near Paxton between the rivers but no one supposed that nuggets of gold would ever be found in this region.

to read all these advertisements of medicines upon medicines—when they enumerate with such particularity and minuteness of detail, all the diseases mankind, womankind, and even "babykind," are heir to. How cheap one feels to commence what she supposes to be a tragic or tender love-story, read until their sympathies are thoroughly aroused that she can scarcely sleep without knowing whether they were married or not, and then have it end something like this: "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only positive cure for all classes of 'female weakness,' such as prolapsus, inflammation, perodical pains, etc. For sale by all druggists."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are laxative or cathartic according to size of dose.

was the only safe gasoline stove made, but in 1887, the first year it was introduced in North Platte, FORTY-SIX were sold, more than was sold of all others combined. We have them with either drop tank or the pneumatic, and in the language of the poet, "no pump to get out of order or gas forced through the room," but can prove that less gas escapes from it than any stove made and can show it has many points of superiority over all others and prove to you that the Jewel is
