A WARNING. The modes of death's approach are various and statistics show conclusively that more persons die from diseases of the throat and lungs than any other. It is probable that everyone, without exception, receives vast numbers of tubercle germs into the system and where these germs fall upon suitable soil they start into life and develop, at first slowly and is shown by a slight tickling sensation in the throat and if allowed to continue their ravages they extend to the lungs, producing consumption and to the head, causing catarrh. Now all this is dangerous and if allowed to proceed will in time cause death. At the onset you must act with promtness; allowing a cold to go without attention is dangerous and may lose you your life. As soon as you feel that something is wrong with your Throat, Lungs or Nostrils, obtain a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. It will give you immediate relief. Representative Crane is a gentleman not in the habit of writing to his friends telling them to go work and get him an invitation to address their people at the county fair on the political rottenness of the day, but the Journal suggests that if any farming community wants some bottom facts on political rottenness they can secure in him a pretty inteligent farmer, who knows his business and can make them a very interesting speech on that topic. Hon. Patrick Egan feels that the success of the republican national ticket is inevitable. He has had unusual opportunities for studying the feelings of the Irish-American voters, and finds that large numbers are coming over to the support of Harrison. There are two reasons for the wholesale conversion of the Celts. The principle of protection finds much favor among them, partially, perhaps, because no Irishman wishes to aid by his vote the people who crushed out the industries of the Emerald isle by adverse legislation in the past. Again, Mr. continue voting the democratic ticket simply because the party opposed the knownothings long before they were born. They are tired of the bossism that has presumed to mark out their pa'hs in politics, and in the future will reserve the right to think and act for themselves. A little independent thinking lands the vote in the republican party, and enough changes of this kind will occur to have quite an influence in the doubtful states.— Journal.
