COMMISSIONERS PROCEEDINGS.

Wednesday, Aug. 15, 1888. Board met pursuant to adjournment. Present James Belton and Lester Walker, Commissioners, and County Clerk. Upon petition of Isaac Dillon, W. F. Cody and Patrick Grady, the public road commencing at the 1/2 section corner between sections 13 and 14, town 14, range 21, and thence north to the North Platte river, is hereby ordered vacated, the above petitioners being the only land owners touched by said road, and said road not considered any public good.

The resignation of Hector Marti as constable in Second Ward North Platte Precinct No. 2 is hereby accepted, and upon petition of O. A. Kocken is hereby appointed to fill said vacancy, and his official bond is approved therefor.

Commissioners Belton and Walker report having visited the O'Fallon bridge and found as follows: The piles used to be of the best quality of oak and fully as large on the average as contract calls for, and driven well into the earth. The stringers or joist are of very best quality of southern pine and full size, and that the construction of the bridge is progressing in a very satisfactory manner.

The following described lands have been erroneously assessed and sold for taxes: Lot 8, sec 6, town 13, range 29, $4.54; nw 1/4 sec 24, town 13, range 30, $14.19; s 1/2 sec 24 and lots 1 and 2, sec 4, town 13, range 33, $23.88; s 1/2 nw 1/4 sec 18, town 14, range 32, $10.77; se 1/4 sec 14, town 13, range 31, $11.73; ne 1/4 sec 14, town 13, range 31, $28.84; w 1/2 sec 20, town 14, range 29, $7.17.

The county treasurer is ordered to refund the foregoing amounts illegally collected.

Thursday, August 16, 1888. Board met pursuant to adjournment. Present James Belton and Lester Walker, commissioners, and county clerk.

Upon subject of cells for jail, the board after extended comparison, the VanDoran cells of Cleveland, Ohio, are favorably considered.

The following bills were allowed on general fund: R. H. Langford, Co. Sup't salary, $ 87 50; D. A. Baker, board of prisoners, etc., 109 50; D. W. Besack, 11 50; D. A. Baker, fees, etc., 55 75; Chas. P. Ross, on jail fund, surveying lots and locating jail, 13 00; S. O. Fogel, chairman, 1 50; J. A. Dwyer, chairman, 1 50; Gilbert Hunt, chairman, 1 15; R. F. Forest, chairman, 2 00; Thos. Reed, general fund, janitor, 30 00.

O. F. Burris, the well-known stove manufacturer of Troy, N. Y., who was born a democrat and never voted any other ticket, says: "If I live till November I shall vote for Harrison and Morton, and in favor of protection that protects." Levi P. Morton is really a good-looking man, though campaign banners make him look as though he was advertising a patent medicine and had posed for the "before taking" illustration. In reality his features are clear cut and handsome and his complexion is fresh and wholesome.

Van Wyck is in the field as a candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator Manderson. When the people of Nebraska are ready to retire a statesman and elect a mount-bank Van Wyck may stand a show. Until then he will remain in the obscurity which he is so eminently fitted to adorn.—Hastings Journal.

"Fifty years ago," says an exchange, "the democratic party was the party of nullification, twenty-five years ago the party of human slavery, and to day the party of free trade. It has never improved only as it has been forced to do so. It has been compelled to advance in order to be within objecting distance of the republican party, but has never taken the lead in advocacy of a single great measure now on our statute books."

Hon. John B. Haskins of New York, a prominent democrat who repudiates the party of free trade, says: "Our homes, our industries and our flag must be protected from every harm. This is my platform, and this year I can best carry it out by voting for Harrison and Morton. I don't think that even the old Roman can expect enough influence to prevent the protection ticket from sweeping every northern state, and I would not be surprised to see Virginia and West Virginia follow very close behind." Mr. Haskins was in congress for several years, and was one of the leaders of his party.

Navigators and shippers are following the course of Captain Wiggins and his good ship Labrador with curious interest. He has just reached the mouth of the Yenese River, and transferred his cargo of English merchandise to a steamer that will take it 2,000 miles up the river to towns in Southern Siberia. It now remains to be seen whether the Labrador can successfully fight her way back through the ice of the Kara Sea. If he returns safely with his cargo of Siberian produce, he will successfully demonstrate that traffic by water between the ports of the Western world and Southern Siberia can be carried on in spite of ice, a practical discovery of no small mercantile importance.

J. C. PIERCY, Corp'l, Signal Corps.

Dr. Gamaleia, a Russian, has recently discovered a method of inoculation for cholera, which, if it is what he claims for it, is certainly a great thing for the human race. The discovery is highly endorsed by M. Pasteur, who says, if necessary, that he will himself submit to have an experiment tried upon his own person.

The New York World has come out strongly for "boodle." It says: "It is announced that President Cleveland has sent his check for $10,000 to the national democratic committee. If this be true he has proclaimed himself a perniciously active partisan. Why should not every federal office holder contribute to the campaign fund as well as the president? Let us have no hypocrisy."

The republican national committee reports a big demand for campaign documents relating to the tariff. Four years ago there was but little demand for documents, and the committee sent them out haphazard, seeking a market. The change shows that the voters want to read up on the subject, and the more they read and think the stronger will be their faith in protection and the republican party.

The democrats of Nebraska solemnly adopted a resolution declaring: "We are opposed to letting our convict labor so as to bring it into direct competition with the industrial classes of our state." And then the democrats went out and witnessed a parade of the Lincoln democratic flambeau club, every member of which was dressed in a uniform made by convict labor at the Nebraska penitentiary.

During President Arthur's term the debt was reduced $278,000,000 and $400,000,000 was saved to offset it. During President Cleveland's term the debt has been reduced $115,000,000 and less than $13,000,000 saved to offset it, though the income has been constantly increasing in volume. In other words the democrats have spent at least $563,000,000 more than the republicans who preceded them. Deducting cash on hand June 30, 1884, from the debt, left it about $1,450,000,000. Deducting cash now leaves it $1,715,000,000.

A few years ago Gen. Alger, at that time governor of Michigan, gave to Gen. Sheridan $10,000 in money, upon condition that it should be invested in a life insurance policy, and that the policy should be kept up for the benefit of his widow. The money was invested in a policy for $25,000, and inquiry since the death of Gen. Sheridan at the office of the Connecticut company was answered by a statement that there had been no default in the payment upon it. The original intention of Gen. Alger was, therefore, carried out, and the policy remains to the benefit of the widow.

Who Are for Protection? It is significant that the advocates of protection are business and working men, bread winners and wage earners, men who earn a living by effort of brain and muscle, while the leading advocates of free trade are the wealthy, mostly southerners, who have inherited large fortunes built up by slave labor, and northerners whose independent property tends to remove them from sympathy with the laborer.

It should not be hard for the young man casting his first vote to decide which class he will favor with that vote. He can join either the drones or the workers. The latter will welcome him heartily. The former, while glad to get his vote, are doing all in their power to prostrate the industries of the country which furnish an avenue for the respectable employment and advancement in wealth of the young.

The hope of the country for perpetually growing greatness is in the workers, and anything which tends to elevate them, also tends to elevate the country. To reduce the wages of the laborers, to lessen the purchasing power of a day's toil, to degrade manhood and lowers the standard of intellectual development among the people composing the bone and sinew of this land. A vote for free trade, for the drones, is a vote to bring about this condition.—Journal.

Blaine On Trusts. The Democrats are misquoting and endeavoring to make political capital out of Mr. Blaine's position on Trusts. At Dover, Maine, Aug. 31, he addressed a large open air meeting, thousands of people coming from all parts of that region to hear him. In opening, he considered the question of trusts. He alleged that trusts flourished to a greater extent under the free trade policy of England than under the protection policy of the United States. He cited authorities to support his statement. He said there was not one of the trusts in America that derives its being, owes its organization or came up under the patronage of the national government. Every one derives whatever sanction of law it possesses from a state government, generally one state, but sometimes several. The president, therefore, certainly should have known, when he arraigned trusts in his message to congress that congress could not dissolve them when their charters were from state legislatures or their organizations under state law. It had been confessed by the democratic house ways and means committee, by Chairman Mills, and every man that stood as an advocate of free trade, that trusts had no possible legal connection with the tariff. The president's charge that trusts had their origin in the protective tariff had not a foot of ground to stand on, and was contradicted in every line of free trade experience which the speaker had quoted from England. Now when all chance to investigate the alleged bribery by which a certain United States senator, connected with one of the largest trusts, was charged to have obtained his seat is past and gone, the democratic papers can make a loud howl about trusts. There was a democratic opportunity to get the true inwardness of trusts, but they shrank from the investigation of bribery, and both outside and inside the administration they were determined to have no investigation. Trusts have no place in the national campaign. They are state issues and the republicans of Maine, at least, can be depended upon to look after those in their own state.

Andrew Waldon, of Red Willow county, was instantly killed through the accidental discharge of a shot gun, Thursday of last week. Mr. Waldon was the possessor of a half section of land in this county, 12 miles south of Curtis, to where he had come from his Red Willow county home for the purpose of putting up hay, when the accident occurred. On the morning of the above day, he started from the house with a mowing machine, taking with him a shot gun in the hope of shooting prairie chickens. After proceeding a short distance, the jolting of the machine while crossing a foot-path caused the gun to fall to the ground, both barrels being discharged, and their contents entering the neck of the unfortunate man, killing him instantly. This accident robs a wife and eight children of a husband's devotion and a father's care, and is another powerful argument against the careless use of firearms.—Curtis Record.

"The Merry Maiden and the Tar." She was the merriest before she "struck" the tar. Her spirits sank as she beheld her new white gown blackened by the tar. This tar helped a wagon run instead of helping run a ship. Just so a thousand trivial accidents and neglected "small things" take the merriment out of the lives of young girls and maidens. Particularly is this the case with diseases peculiar to their sex which take so much enjoyment and happiness from life. However a remedy is found in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for all female "weaknesses" or irregularities, nervousness, neuralgia, and uterine troubles. Ask your druggist.

Dr. Pierce's Pellets, or Anti-bilious Granules, have no equals. 25 cents a vial; one a dose. Cure headache, constipation and indigestion.
