To the ordinary mind here is a difference of 2½ cents, which Mr. Scott offers his men for doing that which other operators estimate at 15 cents worth of work. He asks the public to believe that 75 cents of his money is worth more than 87½ cents of the money paid by the Braidwood operators. The old saying that figures will not lie is hard to believe when they are handled by Mr. Scott, the great free-trade advocate from Pennsylvania. His defense of the Spring Valley Coal Company is as confusing as his ad-
