For Representative, Fifty-fourth District, W. MCANDLESS.
COUNTY TICKET.
For County Attorney, W. E. GLOCK.
For County Commissioner, SAMUEL FARMER.

W. J. MCANDLESS, the Republican nominee for representative is making a tour through the district and gaining scores of votes every day. The opposition do not and cannot say anything detrimental to him.

THE TRIBUNE will oppose township organization yet it invites those favoring the matter to send in their views for publication. The question is one that should be well studied, and the way to attain that end is to thoroughly discuss it through the newspapers.

THE Sidney Telegraph has information from a member of Democrats of Cheyenne county that they will vote for Dorsey for congress. One of them says that it is business to keep Dorsey in congress. He can do more for this western country than any new man.

THE manner in which the affairs of the state of Nebraska have been conducted by the Republicans during their many years of control is very satisfactory. The state is one of two without bonded indebtedness, and the party must be given credit for this state of affairs. Neither the Democrats or the Alliance could have made a better record, nor as good.

INASMUCH as the Nebraska senate will unquestionably be Republican by a good majority, would it not be the best thing for the farmers to elect Mr. Daugherty to a seat in that body? He is a farmer and a successful one, and is thoroughly conversant with the needs of the agriculturalist, and would be a valuable man in the upper house of the legislature. What can they expect of Mr. Stevens in event of his election? He would be a Democrat if elected, and it is certainly very clear that he would be at a disadvantage in securing favorable legislation. It would be the reverse with Mr. Daugherty, and there is a growing conviction among the Republican members of the alliance that he is the proper man to represent the Thirtieth district.

W. A. GREGG, a farmer who resides in Cox precinct, this county, has known O. M. Kem, the alliance candidate for congress, for eight years, and by virtue of that knowledge does not hold the aforesaid Kem in very high esteem. Mr. Gregg informs THE TRIBUNE that the aforesaid O. M. Kem, who is wholly unfit by education and natural ability to represent the people in any capacity. In his efforts to secure an office he has swung around the circle of political parties, and has promised that in event of his election, and there will vote with the Democrats. A vote for Kem is half a vote for Thompson, and the Republican members of the alliance should give Mr. Dorsey their vote. He is not a demagogue but a working farmer of the farm, and it would be quite the proper thing to give him another term.

with the liquor question is to educate the people that it is a moral wrong to drink intoxicants. However, if a sufficient number of reliable gentlemen will give us their word of honor that they will make their business to see that, in case prohibition carries, the law is rigidly enforced and that no holes-in-the-wall or drug stores be allowed to sell liquors, we will at least consider the propriety of voting for the amendment.

Do the Alliance Republicans of Lincoln county fully understand the political situation in this county? Do you know that you are doing the bidding of the Democratic party?

Is it not a fact that your conventions are controlled by Democrats? Is it not a fact that before nominations are made the endorsement of Mullane, Snelling and Neville, three leading Democrats, is obtained?

Did you know that Boyd, the Democratic candidate for governor, has a list of the Democrats in the Alliance and is sending each of them a letter saying "Now is the time to down the Republicans by voting the Democratic state ticket, and to vote for Alliance men only when they are Democrats?"

Do you know that a Democrat sent to the state legislature as an Alliance man will vote with the Democrats regardless of your interests? In short, do you know that you are being drawn into the Democratic camp to elect their men only? If you don't know it you are not as well posted as Republicans ought to be, or as they might be, for one of the most active Democratic-Alliance men said in North Platte without fear of contradiction that it was true, that he didn't suppose any one thought differently.

How do you like the partnership; you doing the voting, Democrats getting the offices?

ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Sept. 29, 1890.—EDITHS TRIBUNE: From many inquiries received asking for information, it seems to be the general impression that the prohibition law of Iowa has closed all saloons in the state, except what are known as original package saloons and that no liquors are sold in defiance of law but what is sold on the sly.

If this was so then the law would be at least a partial success, but such is not the case. In the city of Davenport there are nearly two hundred saloons running openly and without hindrance. Breweries are making beer and their wagons can be met all over the city delivering their products to the saloons. They run their business the same as they do in Illinois or Nebraska, except they are not controlled by law, and are open day, night, week-days and Sunday alike.

I will give you one illustration: At a restaurant held one of the parks in that city lasting two days, one of which was a Sunday, there was delivered and drank 275 kegs of beer, in the park. This is from one that was in position to know. The temperance people told me this was not the case all over the state; that all the saloons were closed outside of the city limits of Davenport; but I find this to be not strictly true.

that come in conflict with their desires. In traveling over the state you will find this to be the case at the present time.

In conversation with an old gentleman in the western part of the state I was speaking about a boy of eighteen years, the son of an old friend and schoolmate. The old gentleman in answer to my question said, "He is one of the brightest young men of our neighborhood, but he is becoming dissipated."

Says I, "dissipated in prohibition Iowa?" His answer was something like this: "Don't you know that up to me Sidney. You know that I have always been a temperance man. I have yet to take my first glass of any kind of intoxicating drinks (He is a man of about seventy years of age). I believed in prohibition, voted for it and worked for it. If I made a mistake, and I believe I did, I hope God will forgive me; if I had it to do over again I would do different. I see not only Jerry's boy going to ruin but there are many more right in my own neighborhood who have been taught that it was a disgrace to go into a saloon, and many of them would have grown to manhood without entering the doors of the hell-hole, but in company with other boys they take their first drink out in the woods or fields where they have their meeting place. They are taking the forbidden fruit and think they have done something grand, not thinking it is the first step down the road. This morning the teachings at home are forgotten and they are regular visitors at the saloon. There was not a saloon nearer than Atlantic (about twelve miles) before the prohibition laws passed, but now you will find many jugs and bottles hid away by our boys and young men. It was a big mistake, one that can never be rectified."

This was from a man whom I knew in my boyhood days, one who I believe has tried to live a consistent christian; who to my knowledge has been a hard-working temperance man, and there are many more of the same kind scattered over the prairies of Iowa.

The prohibition advocates claim that it is their wish to close up the saloons and they think it can be done by law. I think I have shown that it is not done in Iowa. But if prohibition laws can be enforced in Nebraska why can not other liquor laws be enforced? What causes most of our boys to take their first drink and visit the saloon for the first time, and not only the first time but the majority of times afterward? What causes most of our drunkards? In fact what keeps up the saloons?

Let any thoughtful person give these questions careful study and the answer will be, the system of social teaching. Yet there is a law on the statute books of Nebraska, a penal law against either giving or accepting a treat in a saloon. Why don't our prohibition friends enforce this law?

If law will close up the saloons then this law would close up more saloons than any prohibition law that was ever passed. And yet I think it would be safe to say that there is not a person living in Nebraska who ever saw even an effort to enforce it.

But for fear of encroaching on good nature I will end.
SID. D. ROBB.

IT REMOVES PIMPLES AND BLOTCHES.
I take pleasure in recommending Swift's Specific (S.S.S.) as a blood purifier. A few bottles cured me of a blood trouble after all other remedies had failed. It also removed pimples and blotches from my face leaving the skin clear and smooth. While taking S.S.S. my appetite increased and my general health improved.
WILLOW WILSON,
Fairfield, Ill.
I cheerfully bear testimony to the curative properties of your wonderful Swift's Specific (S.S.S.). I was troubled with sores on my hands which I could not cure, my blood was out of order. I was advised by a friend to try S.S.S., and was surprised to find that after using one bottle I was entirely cured and have not been troubled since.

A prominent worker for the alliance ticket who was well known to the Observer editor in his boyhood days and whom we had not seen for years, we had the pleasure of meeting at North Platte a short time ago. He was known to us as a republican and when informed he was canvassing for the alliance ticket we were much surprised, until he explained it in this light: "Three dollars a day and expenses beats farming." We had to admit that it did, but to some farming would be preferable. How many of the workers in the alliance movement are like our old friend receiving three dollars a day and expenses we cannot say, but as the democratic campaign fund is supposed to be ample, we draw the conclusion that they employ all who apply to work, either for the democratic or alliance tickets.—Kimball Observer.

We want every mother to know that cramp can be prevented. True cramp never appears without a warning. The first symptom is hoarseness; then the child appears to have taken cold or a cold may have accompanied the hoarseness from the start. After that a peculiar cramp will attack the child, which is followed by the cramp. The time to act is when the child first becomes hoarse; a few doses of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure the attack.
