accepted in preference to the one published in the Current clothed with an alias. SNELLING says that he was born in the hills of Kentucky and believes that he has good horse sense, and that if he cannot fill the office he has a good man to help him. Do the tax-payers of Lincoln county want to pay two county attorneys? That "good man to help him" has already shown himself to be a good man to help himself when the county has to pay for the help. Three hundred dollars for two days' work in a single case is the size of that man's love for the dear tax-payers. Elect Snelling and give Gantt a chance to get in a few more such bills at every term of court, when the commissioners will cut down the bills and Gantt will appeal to the district court. Snelling will then have to employ some other "good man" to fight Gantt's claims. This would afford business enough for court to be kept in session the year round, the county paying all the expenses, including the attorney fees. Our reform friends would have a glorious time rustling the taxes to keep the mill going.

The Current's assertion that L. D. Richards owns no less than twelve banks is a lie on a wholesale scale. Mr. Richards does not own a single bank, but has an interest in one at Fremont. He has for a number of years been engaged in the real estate business, and gave that line his principal attention. He it was who by untiring efforts established the Fremont creamery, the largest in the United States, thus promoting the dairy interests of his section of country, and affording the farmers a ready market for milk. He also has interests in the Fremont foundry, street-car line, Creamery Package Supply Co., and a carriage company. Mr. Richards is a self-made man, and came by his money not by skinning the farmers and laboring men, but by hard work and a judicious investment of his earnings—the same line that any man who makes a success must follow. His struggles for a living after he was eleven years old, when his home was broken up, show that he was not reared in the lap of elegance and riches, and his work on the farm, in a lime-kiln and on a pile-driver is evidence of a determination to press onward and make a success of his life. There need be no fear to trust the management of the state to such men as L. D. Richards.

We heartily commend to all Nebraskans, especially our farmers, the cheering and sensible words of President Harrison during his reception at Topeka, Kansas. Wherever Kansas is used just insert Nebraska, and you have the case exactly. In referring to the poor crop the president said: "Let it be understood in all our communities that no selfish interests of the individual; no class interests, however entrenched, shall be permitted to assert their claims against the good of the whole. [Cries of good, good, and cheering.] This is good American doctrine, and it can be made to prevail in all the states of the union until every man secure under the law in his own right, is compelled by the law to yield to every other man his right, nothing can shake our repose. [Cheers.] Now, fellow citizens, you will excuse me from the attempt at further speech [cries of go on, go on.] I beg you again to believe that I am grateful, so far as your presence here has any personal reference to myself, grateful as a public officer for this evidence of your love and affection for the constitution and the country which we all love [great applause]. There is some grumbling in Kansas, and I think it is because your advantages are too great. [Laughter.] A single year of disappointment in agricultural returns should not tempt you to unsafe expedient. Life is made up of averages, and I think you will show a good average [cries of good, good, and cheering.] Let us look forward with hope, with courage, fidelity, thrift, patience, good neighborly hearts, and a patriotic love for the flag. Kansas and her people have an assured and happy future." [Prolonged cheers.]

The above is sensible advice and is as true as it is sensible. It should sink deep into every heart and fill us with a desire and purpose to stare the future in the face with courage and manhood, and disgust us with the croaking of kickers and disgruntled political tricksters.

MR. McCANDLESS REPLIES. KIMBALL, NEB., Oct. 15, 1890.—EDITORS TRIBUNE, North Platte. The Current of Oct. 11th contains an article headed, "Corporation Tool McCandleless," in which it is stated that it is my duty to the party which honored me by a nomination for representative for the Fifty-fourth district to refute the statements made in that paper. I never rode a mile on a pass in my life; have no pass, nor acquaintance with railroad officials. The same article charges that I led the Banner county delegation at Columbus and was shouting there for Dorsey. At the time of the congressional convention I was in North Platte, making acquaintances through the courtesy of District Judge Church. So far as estates in Banner county are concerned I have been interested in the settlement of but one estate in that county, which consisted entirely of realty; not a cent's worth of the property has been sold, nor can it be till an order of sale is obtained from the district court at its next session in that county. With respect to attempting to secure a commission as temperance lecturer for Banner county, it is a base and malicious lie. I refused to join the league in that county and never made overtures to the leaders of the movement. The entire article is a tissue of the distasteful and most contemptible falsehoods and emanated from a rascal who has an unenviable reputation extending from North Platte to the western limits of Nebraska, a man who has disgraced the noble calling of the newspaper fraternity in the recent past, one from whose lips lie trickles like dregs from a leaking cask, a fellow who was driven from Hampton, Nebraska, by enraged citizens; who kept Kimball county in an uproar so long as the people permitted him to blight it with his ruinous schemes and scurrilous lies, who driven from that county came into Banner and received the gift of a newspaper outfit from his uncle C. A. Schooley, who is chiefly interested in the low side of Harrisburg; and this same ungrateful varlet, supposed to be working sincerely in the interests of Mr. Schooley, removed the newspaper plant with the building belonging to Mr. Schooley, one-half mile north and started a town of his own. Indignant citizens to the number of one hundred took the building in charge and conveyed it back to Harrisburg, and the "A Republican" guarded by officers of the law from the wrath of the people he had betrayed. He is the fellow who tried to capture the representative delegation from Banner county, and secured the endorsement of three delegates out of thirty-nine, and he secured those through the stress of prohibition appeals. This calumniator was, like Richard Third, sent into this world "scarce half made up." For in his nature is a lack of honor and honesty, of truth and manliness and his acquisitions of his only added to the sum total of his covetous qualities. W. J. McCANDLESS.

Ayer's Pills, being convenient, efficacious and safe, are the best cathartic, whether on land or sea, in city or country. For constipation, sick headache, indigestion, and torpid liver, they never fail. Try a box of them; they are sugar-coated.

THE PEOPLE MUST WIN, they must, they cannot afford to be defeated. Defeat means national ruin. Just how, and when, that must yet be determined. But reforms never go backward. Defeat will willingly sacrifice, and does so, some of his personal rights and privileges for the good of the majority. The brewers and distillers if they are good citizens should do the same also, the saloonists and moderate drinkers. Allowing the arguments of the opposers of the amendment to be true, "that prohibition hurts business" and allowing the statements to be true, "that liquor is sold everywhere in Davenport, Council Bluffs and Burlington," and "that there existed a necessity for saloons to increase the prosperity of a community," then Davenport and Burlington and Council Bluffs should be the most prosperous cities in the state of Iowa. The census returns do not show that such is the case, however. But I have written enough on this question, Mr. Editor. My only idea was to clearly show what Mr. Robb has demonstrated. Let us all be charitable, give the brewers and distillers and their agents some credit for the terrible wrong they are doing to the state. The Supreme Ruler of the universe made laws that mankind endeavors to reject, disobey, and violate, but He does not rebuke them nor rescind them. Whatever may be the result in Nebraska on the amendment question the wheel of progress will not stop nor be blocked, either by the success or defeat of the amendment. Reforms must and will come. God in his own good time will reward or punish those who throw themselves into his mills for though they grumble slowly they are grinded well. And He will surely grind out the wrong that is in the liquor traffic. Everywhere throughout the country the sentiment is growing in favor of reducing the evils that flow from the sale of liquor to the lowest possible minimum and prohibition must and will come to both state and nation. THE TOTAL VOTE OF NEBRASKA THREE weeks hence will be about two hundred and ten thousand. With four state tickets in the field, at least eight thousand will be required for the success of the independent nominees. No reasonable man, familiar with the state of the campaign, will dare to predict that the alliance can begin to muster any such vote. But a vote smaller by many thousands might defeat the Republican ticket. That, indeed, is the only result the independent campaign may reasonably be said to threaten to accomplish. And that would be the end of it. Simply that a movement honestly undertaken in the interest of reform, by dissatisfied Republicans, had ended by putting in Democrats into the state capital and by making a wide breach in the lines of the solid Republican west. The Republican farmers who had helped to achieve this result would have no cause for rejoicing. They would rather have multiplied their woes.

THE PULPIT AND THE STAGE. Rev. F. M. Shroff, Pastor United Brethren Church, Blue Springs, Kan., says: "I feel it my duty to tell what wonders Dr. King's New Discovery has done for me. My lungs were badly diseased and my physicians thought I could live only a few weeks. I took five bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery and a sound and well-gained 26 lbs. in weight." Arthur Love, Manager Love's Fanny Folks Combination, writes: "After a thorough trial and convincing evidence, I am confident Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, beats 'em all, and cures when everything else fails. The greatest I know of on dry throats and colds is to urge them to try it." Free trial bottles at A. F. Streitz Drugstore. Regular sizes 50c. and $1.00.
