Take Care of Your Eyes. The way people abuse their eyes amazing. They try them, strain them and overtax them in all manner of ways, and when their eyes begin to weaken with ill usage and age they are too proud to give them the aid of glasses which they crave. Spectaeles proclaim the defect which they mitigate, and are looked upon by those whose minds are as weak as their eyes as a badge of in firmity, and sooner than saddle their noses with spectacles they saddle their lives with semi-blindness.

Eminent scientific authorities have recently demonstrated that spectacles which are properly adapted to the eyes can only be secured through the professional services of an opthamologistthat is to say, through the assistance of one who is skilled and actually engaged in the study of that branch of physical science which treats of the nature and properties of light. It is therefore obvious that optical defects of vision can vious that optical defects of vision can only justifiably be relegated to the charge of strictly scientific men, which credulous persons should demand before placing confidence in a superficially fore placing confidence in a superficially

Benson, Minn., Aug. 30, 1893. To Whom it May Concern: This is to certify that for thirteen years I have been partially, and part of the time nearly totally blind. During that time I have spent much time and money with the best oculists in the state but to the time of meeting Dr. H. the last of the week and C. W. Burklund last week in repairing the track and Hirschberg I had received so little bene fit that I felt that there was no use in fortunately for me I met the doctor a more numerous in this locality within few days since and was induced to try once more.
